

Infantryman's Nightmare: Viet Cong Attack in Dark

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Bob Hodieme, a free-lance photographer from Galesburg, Ill., was pinned down with U.S. troops by North Vietnamese fire Saturday on South Vietnam's central coast.)

By BOB HODIERNE
MY PHU, South Vietnam (AP)—Enemy bullets crackled from across the rice paddies and thudded into the hedgerows where men of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division lay pinned down in the dark night.
The unit's radio came to life and the voice of Green One came on in a whisper. Green One—code name of the soldier—reported he was out front with a wound in his leg and pinned down.

The radioman in the hedgerow responded.
"Can you hear any VC around you?"
"Yes."
"How close?"
Green One's reply was hoarse and thin.
"About 10 feet."
Five GPs unstrapped their field gear and set aside their rifles and automatic weapons. Each pulled out a pistol. They would try to reach Green One.

There were other dead and wounded out there. When dawn came the 2nd Battalion, 5th Cavalry Regiment would count six Americans dead, 25 wounded and 13 missing. The troopers had swirled in Saturday noon to bolster another company that had come under heavy North Vietnamese fire in the flat, sandy coastline near My Phu, on South Vietnam's central coast about 285 miles northeast of Saigon.
The cavalrymen and the Communists have met in this same area many times before. The North Vietnamese had dug trenches and fighting holes under clumps of tall trees and hedgerows.

The Americans could neither move forward nor pull back. They became split up. Nobody could locate the company commander. A towering Southern sergeant took control.
He was huddled with a dozen men in the hedgerow, when Green One reported in.

SIX HURT IN THIS CRASH

Six persons were injured last night when these autos were involved in an accident at 6:50 p.m. on Route 6, about one-half-mile east of the borough. Operator of the auto

Conewango Searched For Man

By DICK SINE

Dragging operations in Conewango Creek ended near dusk yesterday, for the body of a Lakewood, N. Y., man reported missing Friday afternoon. The search may resume next weekend.

Firemen from Russell and neighboring fire companies, as well as local boaters, began the search late Friday and worked from 8 a.m. yesterday.

Object of the search is James Leo Laughlin, 58 or 59, of Winch road, RD 1, Lakewood, N.Y. His wife reported she last saw him at 8 a.m. Friday when he left for his job at Sunshine Biscuit Co. in Warren.

Early in the afternoon, his auto was reported as parked at Akeley Garage, at the east end of Akeley bridge over the Conewango. A person, answering Laughlin's description, was seen leaving the auto a while later and standing near the east end of the bridge at about 4:30 p.m. Curt Johnson of Russell made the latter report.

Pennsylvania State Police, at the Warren sub-station, were called to investigate. Mrs. Evelyn Olive Laughlin, his wife, filed the missing persons report locally. A similar report was filed late Friday with the Chautauqua County Sheriffs Department.

When the search ended yesterday, Russell Fire Chief Howard Jones reported there were 17 boats being utilized, with more than 50 men assisting in the operations. The major part was conducted from Akeley bridge to a spot 1.5 miles downstream. Both sides of the stream were thoroughly searched by volunteers.

Jones said dragging would begin next weekend if no other clues to Laughlin's whereabouts were found. If dragging is to resume, Chautauqua County officials may be asked to close off Warner Dam in midweek to allow the Conewango to recede slightly from its present level of five feet-four inches at Russell.

Volunteers reported that the creek had depths of 12 feet in some spots and near Akeley there was a strong undercurrent.

Providing boats for the search were Frewsburg Volunteer Fire Department (3), Starbuck firemen, North Warren firemen (2), and residents of the Akeley area.

Firemen assisting, in addition to the above mentioned, were from Sugar Grove, Lander, Glade and Clarendon. Laughlin's personal belongings, including a billfold and

THREE HOSPITALIZED

Six Persons Hurt In Route 6 Crash

Six persons were taken to Warren General Hospital last evening with injuries caused by a two-car accident on Route 6, half-mile east of Warren at 6:50 p.m.

State police of the Warren substation reported that three of the six were admitted for treatment, two were treated and released and the sixth was undergoing further examination.

Admitted were: Sally Yaegle, 21, of RD 1, Clarendon, driver of one auto, for a possible fracture of the right cheek bone.

Kelly Hollabaugh, 3, son of the driver of the other auto, for possible head injuries.

Wanda Gurdak, 20, of Spring Creek, RD 1, passenger in the Hollabaugh auto, for fractured right arm and possible fractured right leg.

Treated and released were: Carl L. Hollabaugh, 30, of Box 253 Ludlow, operator of one auto, for face lacerations.

Troy Hollabaugh, 4, son of the driver, for contusion of the right leg.

Hollabaugh's wife, Betty Jean, 21, was x-rayed for a possible fracture of the right leg.

Trooper Richard DiSimone, who investigated the mishap, said the Hollabaugh auto was traveling west on Route 6 and was negotiating a left turn. The Hollabaugh auto turned left into the path of the Yaegle auto, which was traveling east, the trooper said.

The Hollabaugh auto was listed as a total wreck. Damage to the Yaegle auto was estimated at $700.

De Gaulle Forces Suffer Reversal In French Election

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle suffered a humiliating rebuff in returns that thrust a Communist-Socialist-leftist alliance into a challenging position in France for the first time since the Popular Front of the 1930s. The electorate yesterday virtually if not completely revoked De Gaulle's majority in Parliament, the returns indicated. Maurice Couve de Murville, De Gaulle's veteran foreign minister who made foreign policy an issue of his campaign, was one of several Cabinet officers brushed aside by the voters in yesterday's runoff vote for the New National Assembly, official results showed.

Yesterday's returns, combined with results in the first round a week ago, gave the Gaullists and their allies 243 seats in the new assembly, and 240 to the combined opposition, including Center Democrats, with three contests unreported. A majority in the new assembly will be 244.

This was a big drop from Gaullist strength in the old assembly where they had a majority of 40 seats.

One after another, Gaullist leaders from Premier George Pompidou to Interior Minister Roger Frey conceded their setback, then bravely predicted they could continue to govern with the aid of Jean Lecanuet's Center Democrats.

The results were a bitter blow to the proud president who confidently expected a resounding endorsement from the nation's voters. Instead, it left his future Cabinet teetering on a thin parliamentary edge, although his own tenure as president through 1972 remained unaffected.

From the government's viewpoint, the situation was embarrassing. The three missing results included one on the West Indian Isle of Guadeloupe, one district in Polynesia whose returns will not be available for another week, and a district on Corsica where voting and counting were marred by clashes and charges of irregularities. In all three cases, a leftist was favored.

There was even a strong chance that the assembly would wind up in equal blocs of 243 each for the Gaullists and the combined opposition. In theory, this could leave the assembly majority in the hands of voters in distant Somaliland who first must decide whether they want to remain under the French flag. A referendum is being conducted there next Sunday on this issue and in the meantime an assembly seat is being held open for Somaliland.

This is where De Gaulle encountered violent anti-French riots on his visit last summer, and the referendum was ordered because of this.

In the old assembly, the Gaullists and their allies led by Valéry Giscard d'Estaing held 282 seats out of a total of 483, a 40-seat majority. New districts brought the new assembly's total to 486 — or 487 if Somaliland is included.

In addition to jeopardizing Gaullist control of Parliament, the election had at least two other results on the national scene:

It marked the resurgence, for the first time since the 1936 Popular Front under Leon Blum, of a strong alliance among leftist parties, linking the Communists to the Socialists and other non-Communist leftists.

It placed the Center Democrats in a strategically important position.

DESTROYER SHELLED

Four U.S. Jets Downed in North

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
SAIGON — The United States lost four jet fighter bombers over North Vietnam Saturday, three of them during the raid on the vast iron and steel plant at Thanhuyen, an American military spokesman said tonight.

Earlier, Radio Hanoi announced that North Vietnamese gunners had shot down seven American jets.

In another action Saturday, American seamen patrolling and regularly attacking the coast of North Vietnam suffered their first casualties from shore battery fire.

The spokesman said that six men aboard the destroyer USS Keppler were injured, three of them seriously, when the vessel was shelled about 30 miles north of the port of Vinh.

Another destroyer, the USS Ingersoll, counterattacked and silenced the shore guns while the wounded seamen were evacuated, the spokesman said.

A detailed assessment of the damage at the Thanhuyen complex, North Vietnam's principle iron and steel works, was not available, the spokesman said. However, returning pilots said that they had seen flames leap 300 feet above the industrial center and that a column of thick black smoke towered 5,000 feet above it as they sped away. American pilots bombed the complex, located 38 miles north of Hanoi, in their first attack on North Vietnamese industry Friday afternoon and again on Saturday.

Meanwhile, American infantrymen in South Vietnam were engaged in fighting that left 255 enemy dead.

Troopers of the First Infantry Division accounted for 210 of the enemy dead, most of whom were killed in about eight hours fighting that ended early Saturday morning.

The military spokesman said enemy mortar crews began shelling the First Division troops at a little after 8 p.m. as the mortar shells exploded, enemy riflemen, possibly a battalion of about 500 men, advanced on the Americans.

The Americans, however, had carefully "dug in" for the night. Among other precautions they had taken the 50-caliber machine guns off their armored cars and set them up on the ground in strategic positions around their wagon-train style camp.

Thus, the assaulting North Vietnamese initially met an unusually high volume of firepower. A few minutes later the Americans brought in armed helicopters, fighter bombers and artillery.

Endeavor Home Razed by Fire; Damage $4,000

A one-story home constructed almost entirely of old pine lumber burst into flames Friday night on the outskirts of Endeavor and in a matter of minutes burned to the ground.

The occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Miller and their two children, had just returned from a shopping trip when they saw fire on the roof.

By the time Tionesta Volunteer Fire Department was summoned the roof had collapsed on the building. A neighbor described the scene as "Boom! Everything was ablaze."

Fire Chief Bruce Johnson estimated damage at $4,000 and said the cause of the fire is still undetermined.

The Miller family currently is lodged at the nearby home of Mrs. Miller's mother.

Fire officials said the loss of the home was partially covered by insurance.

Khrushchev Mingles With Public

By HENRY KAMM

(c) New York Times News Service
MOSCOW — A bald man with a shuffling, old man's gait took a walk through crowded Moscow streets yesterday, his gray-haired wife on his arm. Bystanders greeted him with affection, or at least, with deference, and many walked with him.

It was the first time since his downfall more than two years ago that Nikita S. Khrushchev has walked among the people he once ruled. Their friendly interest appeared to please him, while the size of the crowd made him ill at ease.

About 300 Russians turned out in front of the school in Ryleyeva Street to await the deposed leader's arrival to cast his vote for the man who replaced him as Premier. Premier Aleksei N. Kosygin was the candidate in Khrushchev's district for the Supreme Soviet, or parliament, of the Russian Republic, in yesterday's elections.

Kosygin won his seat, as did all his 883 fellow candidates. Elections were held in nine of the 15 Soviet republics; the others will vote next Sunday.

The crowds began to gather about two hours before the arrival of the former head of the Soviet government and Communist Party, peering at every black car that turned into the street.

Suddenly a small cluster of persons rounded the corner of Satrokovyushny Lane, where Khrushchev has maintained a residence in an apartment house since he was moved out of the Kremlin.

"He is coming on foot," they said, and most ran to meet him. They brushed aside the policemen to get a look at the man who tore the veil off the terror under which they had lived and set this country on a new course.

They were eager and excited, but strangely silent. Few addressed him directly. Those who did said no more than "Good day, Nikita Sergeyevich" or "Long life to you." But they jostled for places with about 20 foreign newsmen in the entourage that walked with him.

Khrushchev smiled in reply, sometimes half-raised his arm in an embarrassed salute and once or twice doffed his large, gray hat. He recognized some of the reporters and shook their hands. Asked whether he was pleased to have so many people greet him, he said discouragingly:

"You know, I worked in Moscow for a long time."

His health is excellent, he said, and his wife, Nina, said the same for herself. Khrushchev looked his age—nearly 73—and appeared to have lost some of his paunch.

He rests and reads, he said, but is not writing anything.

"You know, at my age you should not work," he replied when asked whether he would like to end his retirement.

On request, he offered this message to the world:

"Let there be peace."

Inside the polling station, he was treated respectfully by the local officials and was not required to show his identification documents like other voters.

Minutes later, when the crowd outside had thinned out, he reappeared, quickly stepped into his car and was driven off, probably to his country house. Some waved a farewell.

"Disgraceful," an elderly woman said, shaking her head angrily. "Why make such a sensation? He is a retired man."

SEARCH FOR MISSING MAN

An unidentified girl watches two of 17 boats that participated in an all-day operation in search of James Leo Laughlin, of Lakewood, N.Y., who may have drowned in Conewango Creek at Akeley Bridge yesterday. Laughlin's car, a Buick, and a quantity of money were found near the site. Firemen from most of the surrounding areas participated in the dredging, which was concluded at nightfall and will not be resumed until next weekend. High muddy waters and numerous submerged objects hampered the operation. (Photo by Mansfield)

Briefly Speaking

An auto operated by Francis Johnson, 43, of Punks-tawney, traveling south on Route 62 near Tidoute, ran off the road to the right, struck seven guard rails and went over an embankment at 3:30 p.m. Saturday. He was not injured. Damage was $150.

Metros Fedorchuk Sr., 58, of Youngsville, RD 1, pulled out of a private driveway on Route 6, two miles west of Youngsville, into the path of an auto operated by A. James Dyke, 24, of Pittsfield. The accident occurred at 1:10 p.m. Saturday. Damages amounted to $200 to the Fedorchuk auto and $350 to the Dyke car.

Harold F. Price, passenger in an auto involved in a mishap on the S-bridge west of Warren on Route 6 at 10 a.m. Saturday, was treated in Warren General Hospital for lacerations of the head and face. He was a passenger in an auto operated by Robert Eugene Sherlock, 18, of 9 Fifth st., Youngsville. The Sherlock auto struck the rear wheels of a trailer being pulled by a tractor operated by Eugene Charles, 35, of Roaring Springs. Damage to the Sherlock vehicle was $700.

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Gough of 3 Main st., North Warren that their son, Capt. James E. Gough received a fractured right femur and will soon be transferred to the U.S. from his present location in an Air Force hospital in Weisbaden, Germany. He had been stationed in Ankara, Turkey. His present mailing address is APO New York 09220; USAF Hospital, Ward 3D.

A two car collision Saturday afternoon at the intersection of Third ave. and Water st. resulted in total damage estimated at $750. Operators of the vehicles were Gretchen J. Stenstrom of 430 Jackson ave. ext. and Kym Jansen of Box 169 North Warren. Borough patrolman, Richard White, stated that the Jansen auto failed to stop for a stop sign as it was proceeding south on Water st.

Dr. Ross E. Bryan of Warren, president of Pennsylvania Academy of General Practice, will head a panel of speakers focusing attention on the role of family practice in medicine. His panel will speak this Saturday at Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia and will be part of a program to cultivate Philadelphia medical students. The program is sponsored by Pennsylvania Medical Society and Pennsylvania Academy of General Practice.

Warren Fire Department used a booster line Saturday night to extinguish a fire in a car parked near the intersection of Marion street and Pennsylvania. Minor damage was reported to the car owned by Fritz Stroup of 104 E. Wayne st.

ERIE — Harry N. Pontious, 46, of 548 E. 22nd, was charged with assault with a deadly weapon and is lodged in the county jail in lieu of $5,000 bond. He was arrested by Corry state police on complaint of his wife, who was wounded in the neck of her foot when Pontious fired several shots through the door of their summer home on Flats rd., between Mill Village and Waterford. Pontious said he thought a prowler was attempting to get into his home.

Congress Looking At Nursing Homes

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — A searching congressional look at nursing homes and the strong possibility of stiffened federal regulations for those housing medicare recipients are emerging as an unforeseen byproduct of President Johnson's Social Security proposals.

Nursing homes are increasingly involved with the federal government because of the medicare provision for aged patients to receive extended care in such institutions after periods of hospitalization. Spokesmen for nursing homes urged the House Ways and Means Committee, which is conducting hearings on Johnson's Social Security package, to revise upward the formula on which federal repayment is calculated.

On the same day, Mary Adelaide Mendelson, associate executive secretary of the Welfare Federation of Cleveland, Ohio, told the committee the bill should be revised "to protect the financial interest of the federal government and the human interest in decent care for nursing home patients."

Mrs. Mendelson's testimony of her experience in the Cleveland area led Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., to invite her to sit in on the committee's later executive sessions to draft strengthening amendments to the bill.

Carefully specifying that she was talking about some, but by no means all, nursing homes, Mrs. Mendelson told stories of neglect and substandard care. She spoke also of charges billed to the state-federal agencies for physician services not rendered, drugs not administered or not needed.

And she said nursing homes are multiplying and expanding despite their complaints that payments for publicly supported patients are inadequate.

"There is, we believe, serious doubt whether you, the federal government, are in fact purchasing the kind and quality of care you think you are purchasing," she told the committee.

$500 Million Asked For State Projects

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Shafer Administration is working on a lengthy bill that would implement the proposed $500 million land and water conservation fund.

State Forests and Waters Secretary Maurice K. Goddard said yesterday the bill would be introduced in the legislature before the proposed fund is voted on in the May primary election.

If the fund is voted down the bill, of course, would also be scrapped.

The $500 million proposal itself is in the form of a constitutional amendment. It passed two legislatures and goes on the May 16 election ballot.

Goddard explained that a bill is being proposed first so that the voters will have an idea of what the $500 million would be used for before they step into their polling booths.

The secretary said plans call for the big bill to be introduced in the legislature in early April.

Expenditure of the $500 million is planned to take place over a 10-year period at the rate of $50 million a year, Goddard said.

Here is how Goddard said the fund is planned to be allocated: — $200 million for elimination of mine sources of acid water drainage and to refill and reclaim strip mined areas.

$100 million for grants to communities in construction of sewage treatment plants.

$75 million to local government units for developing recreational areas acquired under Project 70.

$125 million to the Department of Forests and Waters, Fish and Game Commission, and the Historical and Museum Commission for the development of their lands, including dams, beaches and bathhouse facilities acquired under Project 70.

Thailand Problem: Orangutan-Runners

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — They're having some trouble with rare-animal smuggling in Thailand—especially of orangutans, large reddish-haired apes caught in the jungles of Borneo and Sumatra.

After complaints that too many of the animals were being transported through Bangkok unregulated, steps are under way to require import licenses and a 30 per cent tax on orangutans.

The legislature returns Monday for what is expected to be a relatively light work week after which both chambers will recess for the Easter holidays until April 3.

Russell Man Charged With DWI

FREWSBURG, N.Y.—A resident of RD 2, Russell, in what Frewsburg Police described as an intoxicated condition, backed his car from a service station, across the street and into a parked car that had two teenagers leaning on it.

The driver, Herbert Erikson, 53, is free on $200 bail and will appear before Peace Justice Julian Mattocks of Carroll, N.Y., to answer charges of driving while intoxicated.

The two boys, John Westman RD 3, Jamestown, N.Y., were treated and released from Jamestown General Hospital.

Police reported that the impact of the Erikson auto striking the parked car of Merle F. Sherman, 18, of 42 Irish st., Frewsburg sent the two boys flying against a brick wall of a restaurant located on Center st. in Frewsburg.

DIES IN FIRE

Admiral Howard A. Yeager, Commandant, Ninth Naval District, died in a fire that swept his home Saturday aboard the Great Lakes Naval Training Center, Ill. Also killed were two Wave hospital corpsmen who lived at the admiral's quarters to care for his invalid wife. Mrs. Yeager suffered second degree burns and was hospitalized in serious condition.

Nightmare

The men with pistols inched forward on their bellies. They were back half an hour later with two wounded. Green One was not among them.

The big sergeant radioed: "Green One," he said. "Man, if you got the guts to do it, whistle. We'll try and find you."

Green One whistled. It sounded across away. He was told to whistle again. This time there were three or four whistles in the inky darkness.

Four men set out again.

Green One lay hidden beside a paddy dike and the enemy soldiers missed him as they moved about the battlefield. This time the cavalrymen found Green One and brought him back without a fight. On the way, the men found two other wounded men.

One of them said Communist troops had come upon him but he played dead while they picked up his rifle and grenades.

The patrol also found the body of the company commander, next to a machine gun. The machine gunner said the commander had leaped into a gully to help him but broke his leg in the jump. Yet he crawled over to help and was trying to apply a bandage on the gunner when sniper bullets slashed in. The commander died on the spot.

The number of wounded they had found alarmed the GIs. How many more were out there?

"Where is Chuck . . . Bill . . . Willy? When did you see them last," they asked one another.

At that point, the radio crackled with the voice of the battalion commander. He told the sergeant that the company was to pull back.

He said he knew the men hated to leave friends behind, but it was vital to get everyone out that could possibly make it.

The men started back. Two were severely wounded and had to be carried in litters. Three other wounded struggled along, leaning on buddies.

They reached a secure area and helicopters lifted out the wounded. The others flopped wherever there was space to rest out the night.

Flooding Disaster Downstate

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Five counties in southwestern Pennsylvania have been declared a disaster area as a result of last week's flooding, which means residents who suffered losses may apply for long-term, low-interest loans from the federal government.

The Small Business Administration will process applications from flood victims in Allegheny, Greene, Fayette, Washington and Westmoreland counties.

Meanwhile, the Weather Bureau said the snow remaining in the Monongahela and Allegheny river basins poses no further flood threat.

CINCINNATI (AP) — The swollen Ohio River receded further here yesterday but U.S. Army Engineers said it had caused millions of dollars in damage here and at various points upstream.

An Engineers' spokesman estimated damage along the entire Ohio River basin — from Pittsburgh to Cairo, Ill. — at $35 million. But the spokesman said damage probably would have been $123 million more if it were not for 52 reservoirs and 68 other flood control projects now completed along the Ohio.

The river crested here Saturday at 59.8 feet, almost eight feet above flood stage, and sent residents of lowlying areas to higher ground. No injuries were reported, however.

Authority Takes Over

KANE — Kane Borough Council which has faced harrassing mandates for construction of sewage disposal facilities for more than three decades Thursday night formally signed plans, adopted five required ordinances and turned the sewer system over to Kane Borough Authority. The authority is planning a meeting this week to complete transactions for the bond issue and to make available the borough's share of the $1.19 million costs.

AP NEWS ANALYSIS

Another Vietnam Crisis?

By KENNETH L. WHITING
SAIGON (AP) — Political and religious unrest is stirring again in South Vietnam. There's a tinge of anti-Americanism along with it.

U.S. and South Vietnamese informants say it is related to the switchover from military rule to civilian rule in the next six months.

They gave this rundown of sources of potential trouble:

—Remnants of the Buddhist struggle movement which tried to bring down the government with wild street demonstrations a year ago are trying to regroup in Hue and Da Nang in central Vietnam.

Russ Quiet On Holiday

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union took only casual notice yesterday of the 50th anniversary of the revolution that ended tsarist rule of Russia and established a middle-class government.

The Bolsheviks overthrew that government eight months later and will celebrate that event Nov. 7. The press, radio and television are already full of material on "50 years of communism."

But yesterday only a few articles mentioned the "February Revolution." By the calendar then used in Russia, the key day of a tumultuous period in Petrograd, the capital of Tsar Nikolai II, was Feb. 27—March 12 by the Western calendar.

Presidential Trip to Guam Scheduled for War Review

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson goes to Guam this week for a top-level conference expected to center on ways to increase the effectiveness of the American effort in Vietnam, both military and civilian.

It is anticipated the review and planning sessions will produce no major change in the present U.S. course — that of a slowly increasing military pressure against the enemy, combined with intensified attempts to win over the South Vietnamese people.

In a surprise announcement at the annual Gridiron Club dinner late Saturday night, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey disclosed that the President will leave late next Saturday.

Johnson in a Thursday news conference said he would have one of his periodic meetings later this month with the American commander in Vietnam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, and the U.S. ambassador to Saigon, Henry Cabot Lodge. But he didn't disclose the exact time or place.

There were some indications that Johnson might have planned at one time to attend the white-tie dinner—always highlighted by a revue lampooning the incumbent president and dozens of other politicians—but instead he flew to Camp David in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains. Security personnel were much in evidence as the affair started but had vanished when Humphrey spoke.

Humphrey said the President and his military and diplomatic representatives would discuss "the struggle against aggression" and seek the best path "to an honorable peace."

White House press secretary George Christian confirmed Humphrey's brief announcement and added a few details.

He said Johnson will be accompanied by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara plus a group of White House assistants.

Among these are Walt W. Rostow, Johnson's chief assistant for national security affairs, and Robert Komer, the President's top aide on civilian matters in Vietnam.

Administration sources said yesterday that, as of now, the sessions are planned as all-American discussions without the presence of South Vietnam's premier, Nguyen Cao Ky, or any of his government associates.

Christian said the meetings are expected to last "a short time — a few days at the most."

One source said Johnson might go directly from Guam to his Texas ranch for the Easter weekend, March 25-26.

Pentagon Urges Caution On Mining North Harbor

By WILLIAM BEECHER

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — With the United States having embarked in recent days on an expansion of raids against North Vietnam, some high Defense Department officials are counseling the White House against bombing or mining Haiphong Harbor, for the time being at least.

Others urge a major campaign to isolate Hanoi from outside supply by blocking its harbors.

But the advice to Haiphong alone is being given added weight, officials say, because of a belief that threats may be more productive than actually hitting Haiphong Harbor.

One of the principal factors motivating the Soviet Union in its increasing efforts to persuade Hanoi to end the war, the argument goes, is the fear that continued air and sea strikes will eventually include Haiphong and thereby risk a clash between the U.S. and the Soviet Union, which sends goods to Hanoi in Soviet ships, using the port of Haiphong.

Officials say there are "clear signs" that Soviet officials have recently stepped up their pressure on North Vietnam to settle on what Hanoi must regard as less than optimum terms.

But, they point out, Moscow has become so concerned about what might happen if a Soviet ship was sunk by an American mine or bomb that Moscow has avoided shipping heavy weapons to North Vietnam by sea.

Military sources say reconnaissance photos show that for the most part the Soviet Union has used the ocean route only for such things as trucks, petroleum, chemicals and bridge-repair materials, sending overland crated MIG planes, surface-to-air missiles and anti-aircraft artillery.

Companions in Arms

(c) New York Times News Service
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Stan Musial and Red Schoendienst first roomed together in 1946, and they have remained the closest of friends ever since. Each has now reached so lofty an estate that he is entitled to a separate suite whenever the St. Louis Cardinals are on the road, because Stan is now the general manager and the Redhead is his chief lieutenant as field boss.

But it's like old times in the clubhouse since they have side-by-side lockers in the managerial office, sharing the same private dressing room. Although he is now the top administrative executive, Musial still works out in uniform with the rest of the squad, the only general manager who is a better hitter than any of his ball players.

The cares of his new job have not even put a furrow in Stan's brow. He's the same happy-go-lucky, laughing man he always was. The only concession he has made to his top brass status is that he now smokes a cigar, even though he doesn't especially seem to enjoy it. The one-time roomies were in Red's office the other day, enjoying each other's company, when an intruder popped in on them.

"Don't ask me any questions," said Stan, airily pointing his cigar at his buddy. "If either of us is gonna get grey hair, let it be Red."

The obvious question, of course, was Roger Maris, the Yankee slugger who had outlived his usefulness at the stadium, and had been snatched gleefully from the Bombers in a trade. "He's gotta help us," said Red. "I like everything I've seen about him."

"Including his attitude," chimed in Stan. "If he does what I think he can do," said Red, "he can move us into pennant contention. Getting Maris is more than I ever expected. The first hint I had that he might be available was at the winter baseball meetings. New York writers said to me, 'How would you like to have Maris? He can be had.' I told Bob Howsam, then our general manager, what I'd heard and the next thing I know he phones me to say, 'We made a trade.'"

"Now we hope that Mike Shannon can make it for us at third," said Stan. "I don't know why he can't, because he charged the ball like an infielder when he played the outfield." "I was afraid he might have a scatter-arm at third," said Red, "but he's been on target all the time." "Mike adjusts fast to any position," said Stan. "How about the time you used him as a catcher?"

"Yeah," said Red. "One day, Tim McCarver was hurt and I put in Bob Uecker. The first pitch split his fingers. I looked around. 'Who can catch?' I said. 'I can,' said Shannon. He did, too. He does everything well. He'll miss a few, but everyone does."

"Even you miss one occasionally," said Stan chidingly. "Yep," said Red. "I made my big league debut as an outfielder and the first ball ever hit to me went through my legs for an error."

"The other day," said Stan, beginning to chuckle, "Yogi Berra was watching Shannon work out at third, and I asked him about the time Casey Stengel tried him out at third in an exhibition game down here."

"I remember that," said Red brightly. "Yogi messed up a foul fly and forgot to back up the pitcher on a return throw from first, the runner scooting for second. Yogi was slightly less than sensational."

"That ain't the way I heard it from Yogi," said Stan amid booming laughter. "When I asked him if he remembered himself as a third baseman, he had the gall to say to me, 'I was a damn good third baseman.'"

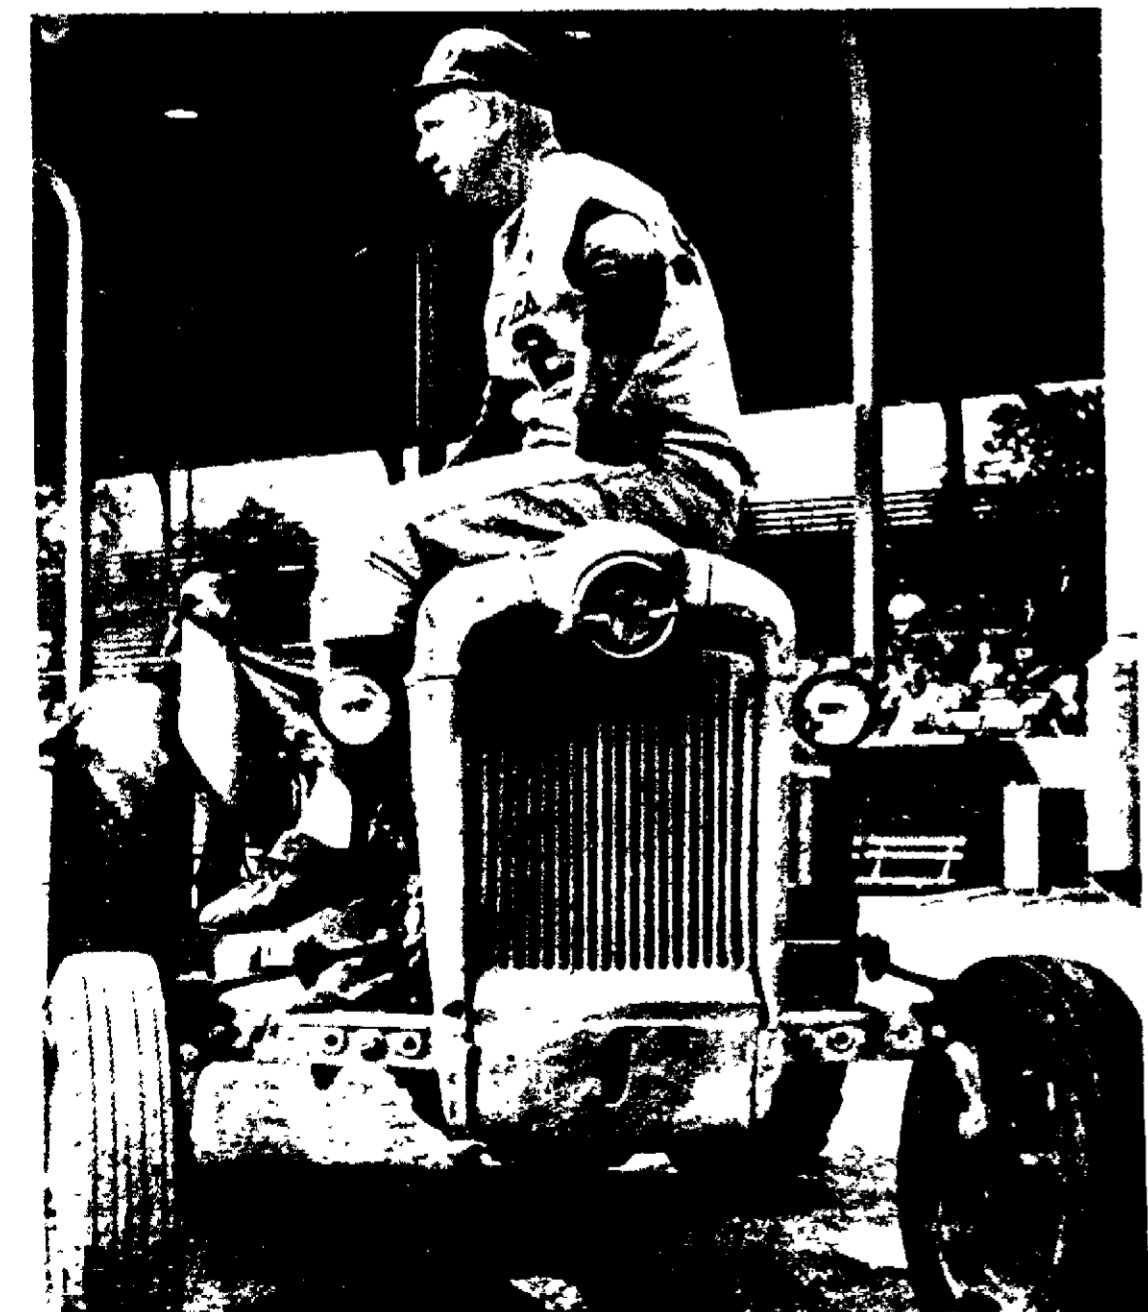

The conversation inevitably got around to the one topic that bubbles up in every training camp, the switch of Mickey Mantle from center field to first base.

"I know that it's supposed to save his legs," said Red. "But let's ask Stan. He played both first base and the outfield."

"I'd split them down the middle," said the joyous Stan. "I had 10 seasons as an outfielder, and 10 more as a first baseman. But I was only 26 years old when I went to first, not 35 the way Mickey is. One thing I learned is that first is harder on the legs and there's a lot more work to first, if you play it properly. In the outfield you move only when the ball is hit in your general direction. At first you move with every pitch."

"I'm mighty glad we now have Orlando Cepeda to play first for us," said Red. "We have no worries with him."

"Let's go to the Yacht Club for lunch. We can get a drink there," said Stan, flicking the ashes off his cigar in an exaggerated gesture. "That's one of the beauties of being a big executive. You are privileged to have a drink with your lunch."

DAY AT THE FARM

Looking very much like the man in charge, St. Louis Cardinal manager Red Schoendienst takes a long look at some of his players as they take batting practice at their St. Petersburg training camp. For a discourse between the Cards' skipper and General Manager Stan Musial, see Arthur Daley's column above. The tractor is used to haul the batting cage into position.

Lehigh Mat Team Cops East Crown

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Powerful Lehigh University, utilizing a deep squad that was able to finish in the top four places of every weight class, bullied its way to its second straight Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association championship—its fifth in seven years.

Mike Caruso, a two-time NAA 123-pound champion, led the Engineers by winning his third consecutive EIWA title Saturday night. He was voted the meet's outstanding wrestler.

Joe Peritore, a returning EIWA champion, was Lehigh's other first place finisher as he won the 130-pound class.

Navy had taken an early lead by gaining six pins in the preliminaries but fell behind and finished with 79 team points. Lehigh had 85. Pete Vanderlofske, a 145-pounder, and Dick Mies, a 152-pounder, were the Middies two champions.

Penn State was third in team standings with 71 points as the Nittany Lions Jerry Seaman upset returning champion Jon Rushatz of Lehigh in the 167-pound finals and Mike Reid won in the heavyweight bout.

Syracuse was fourth with 43 points.

Scott Hunter On 'Star Team

Warren's Scott Hunter has been selected to play with the South high school All-Stars against a North team in a preliminary to the Third Annual Save-Our-Sports College All-Star game in Erie on April 8.

Dick Fox, Corry's head cage coach who will handle the South team in the contest, has invited Hunter to play through Dragon mentor Joe Shantz. The team will be made up of outstanding players from this area.

Refs Announced For Mat NAIA

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP)—The lineup for officiating at the national small college wrestling championships next weekend were announced yesterday.

More than 250 wrestlers representing some 60 schools are expected to participate in the tournament sponsored by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) at Lock Haven State College March 16-18.

Mat officials will be Charles Kunes, Selinsgrove; Bob McCreary, Oreland; Robert Jones, Delhi, N.Y.; Vincent Zuaro, Baldwin, L.I., N.Y., and Ed Hamer, Philipsburg.

Base officials will be George Custer, Mill Hall; Donald Dunn, Loganston; Robert Roach, and Charles Condo, both of Lock Haven.

Minnesota Twins' shortstop Zolito Versailles grimaces as the ball sails over his head during an infield practice session at the Twins' Orlando Florida camp. The wiry shortstop has twice been named to the AL's all-star team, was MVP in 1965 and has won two Golden Glove Awards for fielding excellence.

Junior Relay Team Posts Record in District Meet

The Warren YMCA's Junior freestyle relay team set a District record in Saturday's meet at Corry with a 1:28.1 clocking for the local team's only first place.

Warren's Cadets finished second in the team standings to Erie, who swept all three classes, and the local Juniors took fourth place.

Mike Voigt, Mike Doherty, Darryl Pierce and Mark Schaeffer were members of the team that eclipsed the 1:26.3 mark set by Corry in 1963 in the 160-yard event.

Also taking places for the local team were:

JUNIORS — Mark Schaeffer, 2nd 40-yard freestyle; Mike Voigt, 3rd in 100-yard freestyle and Darryl Pierce, 2nd in 100-yard backstroke.

PREPS — Team of Dan Pierce, Craig Sando, Pat Walter and Tom Walter, 5th in 160-yard medley relay; Robbie Roth, 3rd in 80-yard individual medley; and 2nd in 40-yard butterfly; team of Steve Peltz, Kerry McDonald, Barry Whisner and

OSBORNE, GOLLNER CAPTURE TITLES

Two District X Matmen PIAA State Champions

By LARRY G. STEELE
Sports Editor

UNIVERSITY PARK — Two District X wrestlers, Commodore Perry's Ed Osborne and Jim Gollner of Reynolds, won PIAA State Championships here Saturday. Osborne captured the 112-pound crown and Gollner was the 145-pound winner. Both are seniors.

Larry Rippey of Lock Haven and Clyde Frantz of Hughesville successfully defended their titles, but two other returning Champions were defeated.

Conestoga Valley's Al Uyeda was routed by Rippey in the 127-pound final, 11-1 and Larry Nolen of Cumberland Valley was upset by Waynesburg's Bill Brunofsky, 4-3 in a 154-pound semi-final match. Brunofsky went on to blank Erie East's Eddie Carr in the championship bout, 4-0.

Fletcher Carr of East, the fourth District X grappler in the tourney, was dethroned by Allentown Allen's Jeff Baum, 2-0, in the 180-pound final.

District VI finished with four champions and District III, shut-out last year, had three. The two District X winners, a pair from District XI and one from District IV completed the list of champions.

Six of the winners came from the Central Northwest Regional tourney. The Northeast and Southwest each had three champions and the Southeast failed to produce one.

In addition to the winners noted above, the champions in other weights were: 95 — Randy Biggs, Bethlehem; 103 — Larry Strong, United Joint; 120 — Ron Junko, Trinity; 133 — Barry Daniels, Bald Eagle Nittany; 165 — Ted Swisher, Mt. Lebanon and heavyweight — Dave Joyner, State College.

Biggs, a sophomore, was the only underclassman to win. Of the 48 finalists in the tourney, 36 were seniors.

All four matmen representing District X won afternoon bouts and advanced to the finals.

Osborne was leading Les Peterson of Canon McMillan, 9-1, in the third period when the match was stopped when Peterson complained of leg cramps for the second time. When he could not continue, Osborne was awarded the victory of default.

In the finals, Osborne rode out the second period against Barry Levinthal of Lower Merion after a no-takedown opening two minutes, then scored a reversal with 1:13 remaining in the bout. An escape seconds later by Levinthal made the score 2-1, and Osborne received one point for riding time for a 3-1 victory and the title.

Gollner took a 4-2 decision over Eric Bowersox of Spring Grove in a 145-pound semi-final match and was awarded a referee's decision over Dave Cook of Chartiers Houston in the final.

The Gollner-Cook bout went into overtime when the match score was tied, 4-4, at the end of the regulation six minutes. Cook tallied an escape point in the first extra period and Gollner escaped in the second one-minute stanza to leave the score still deadlocked. Gollner, who had been more aggressive, received the official's nod as the winner.

Eddie Carr wrestled a fine match to defeat Richard Ceccole of Forty Fort in the afternoon, 6-3, but Brunofsky matched him with muscle and mat knowledge in the finals to win 4-0.

Fletcher Carr romped past Kittanning's Terry Claypool in a 180-pound semi, then fell to Baum in the championship bout. Baum's points came on a second period escape and riding time.

In the long-awaited Rippey-Uyeda match, the Lock Haven grappler simply overpowered his opponent, putting him on his

Union Rips Defending 'C' Champs

Union Joint whipped defending Class C Champion Williamsburg, 51-40, Saturday night at Montour for the Western Regional crown and will play in Harrisburg Friday for the State title.

Union and Williamsburg played even for the first quarter, but Coach Don Stemmerich's team took a 25-23 edge into the lockerroom at halftime. Scoring 12 points to the Pirates' 10 in the third stanza, Union moved ahead by four.

The Knights really opened up in the final period, hitting for 14 markers while holding Williamsburg to just seven.

Four players hit in double figures in Union's balanced attack. Tim Sedgwick had 14, Ken Walter dumped in 12, Dan Lewis popped 11 and Jim Clouse added 10.

Jeff Appleman's nine points was high for Williamsburg.

The difference in the contest came from the floor, where Union found the mark for 22 field goals and Williamsburg had 17. The Knights also held an edge at the foul line, making seven to six for the Pirates.

Williamsburg carried a string of 50 straight victories into the game and had walloped Jim Thorpe for the Class C title last year, 89-55.

Citrus Open Won By Julius Boros

By RON SPEER
ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Rejuvenated Julius Boros, ignited by a 60-foot approach shot which dropped in for a birdie, captured the Citrus Open Golf tournament yesterday with a finishing 70 which gave him a 72-hole total of 274 and the first place prize of $23,000.

The 47-year-old campaigner, off to his finest start since 1963, swept to a three-stroke lead in the morning nine on the Rio Pinar course with a 34 and coasted carefully in, beating par for the tournament by 10 strokes and edging surging Arnold Palmer and Canadian George Knudson by a single shot.

The two-time winner of the U.S. Open title, Boros picked up his second victory check of the year. He won the Phoenix Open crown last month, and the Citrus payoff pushed him to second place on the pro tour's money list this year with $43,287.

Palmer, collecting $11,212 for his share of second, shot a finishing 68 to hold the spot in the money race with $45,297. Knudson, 29-year-old Toronto golfer, sank a 15-foot putt on the final hole for a 66 to tie the Palmer.

Dean Refram, who started the final round of the $117,000 tournament, tied for the lead with Boros and lanky Kermit Zarley, shot a 72 for 276 and fourth place. His payoff of $5,750 was the best in six years on the tour for the 5-foot-6 Floridian.

Zarley slipped to a 73 and tied for fifth at 277 with Mason Rudolph, who roared home with a 64-seventh round of the tournament.

Doug Sanders, who led during the first two rounds, dropped out of the running as he double bogeyed the par-3 12th hole after hitting into a lake. The orange-clad Georgian finished with a 74 for a total of 279, a stroke back of three-time Masters champion Jack Nicklaus, who shot a 69.

South African Gary Player soared to a 75 and finished at 280.

Defending champion Lionel

Hebert was off the pace at 289 after a closing 70.

Boros, elated over the victory which put him with Palmer as the only 1967 double winners, said this was his biggest payoff ever on the tour although he won $50,000 in the Tam O'Shanter Tournament in 1955.

"I've never won a tournament before May until this year except in 1964 when I won the Greensboro title," Boros said. He explained that he believes he is playing better now "because I took a long vacation last fall and changed my swing a little."

"This check gives me enough to pay off the mortgage—may be I'll retire," Boros said. But he said later he was only joking.

West Chester's Swimming Team Cops Pa. Crown

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP)—West Chester State's swimming team is the Pennsylvania State College champion for the seventh time in eight years.

West Chester earned the honor Saturday by notching 106 points nearly twice as many as second-place Slippery Rock. Bloomsburg was a close third with 52, followed by Lock Haven at 48, Millersville had 14.

Records were set in five of 11 events—three of them by West Chester swimmers. The outstanding swimmer of the meet, however, went to Tom Derosot of Slippery Rock.

The junior from Butler won three events and set meet records in two of them—the 400-yard individual medley in 2:10.5 and the 200-yard butterfly in 2:09. He also won the 500-yard freestyle.

In each of the events, Deros was defending champion from last year.

West Chester swimmers set records in the 400-yard medley relay (3:56.1), the 400-yard freestyle relay (3:25.3) and in the 100-yard freestyle, which junior Peter Warner of Philadelphia swam in 49.6.

INDOOR MARKS FALL AT DETROIT

Ryun Returns to Winners' Circle on Sub-Four Mile

By JERRY LISKA
DETROIT (AP)—The third annual NCAA indoor track meet last weekend produced one world and nine meet records and also proved that a footsore runner can fool a stopwatch.

Fabulous Jim Ryun of Kansas, the world's best middle distance strider, ran his fastest indoor mile, 3:58.6, and then complained of blisters on the bottom of each foot.

Little Gerry Lindgren, Washington State's distance star, "limped" to an NCAA two-mile record of 8:34.7 with an ailing left foot tightly taped. The 120-pound Lindgren also complained of foot blisters after he shaved more than 6½ seconds from his old NCAA mark.

That track is a sport of intense dedication also was shown by Villanova's husky Dave Patrick.

After soundly trimming Ryun Friday in the 880-yard run with a world indoor record of 1:48.9, Patrick collapsed Saturday in sheer exhaustion after anchoring two relay teams.

Patrick ran a 4:00.6 mile for Villanova's second-place distance medley team, but barely staggered through an anchor 880 to salvage one team point with a fifth in the two-mile relay.

Patrick's heroics, ending with him flat on his stomach, proved futile as Villanova finished fourth with 15 points, 11 behind new champion Southern California's 26.

Southern California, blanked in Friday's opening session, roared back to capture three firsts, two on NCAA record feats by pole vaulter Bob Seagren and 60-yard hurdler Earl McCullouch, in Saturday's 10-event windup.

The Trojans piled up 10 points alone in the closing pole vault in which Seagren dethroned teammate Bill Fosdick with a leap of McCullouch twice was clocked in seven seconds in Saturday's semifinals and finals of the 60 hurdles.

Defending champion Kansas, finishing third with 16 points, scored its only first on Ryun's 3:58.6 mile. It shattered the NCAA mark of 4:03.4 and is topped only by the 3:56.4 world indoor record set by Tom O'Hara of Chicago Loyola in 1964.

Oklahoma took second with 17 points, mainly on Bill Calhoun's successful 440-yard run defense and a meet record 3:15.5 by the Sooner mile-relay team.

A fifth NCAA mark set Saturday was the 2:07.8 victory in the 1,000-yard run by Wisconsin's Ray Arrington. Two meet records were tied as Nebraska's Charlie Greene won his third straight 60-yard sprint title and Ted Downing of Miami, Ohio and Missouri's Steve Herndon high jumped seven feet.

Pirates Hammer Phillies, 10-4

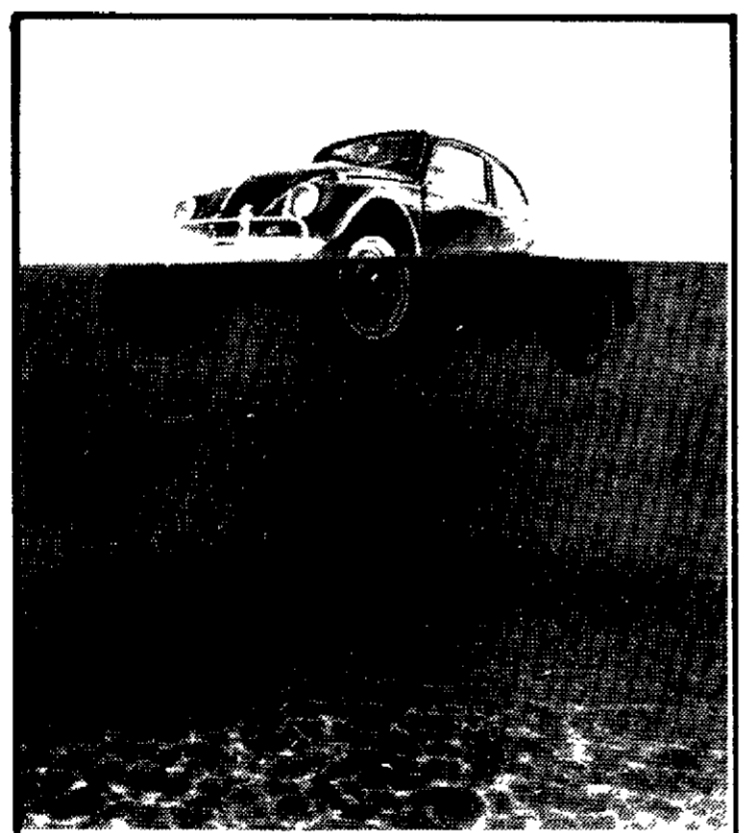

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Bill Mazerowski's two-run homer highlighted a 12-hit attack that carried Pittsburgh to a 10-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday in an exhibition baseball game.

Mazerowski unloaded the shot in the third inning after Gene Alley doubled.

Alley and Manny Mota each had two hits for the Pirates. Cookie Rojas smacked a double and two singles for the Phils.

Rojas' double was the only hit given by Bob Veale, who worked the first three innings.

Veale got credit for the victory. Rick Wise was the loser.

UCLA COPS 26TH STRAIGHT VICTORY

Weekend's Cage Tourney Games Marked by Upsets

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Unbeaten UCLA swept to its 26th straight victory, but the country's No. 1 college basketball team yielded the week-end headlines to the Dayton Flyers, Virginia Tech Gobblers, New Mexico Lobos and the Scarlet Knights of Rutgers.

Dayton surprised Western Kentucky 69-67 in overtime and Virginia Tech upset Toledo 82-76 in the first round of the NCAA national championship tournament. New Mexico upset Syracuse 66-64 and Rutgers stunned Utah State 78-76 in the first round of the National Invitation Tournament at New York's Madison Square Garden.

UCLA ended its regular season with an easy 83-55 victory at home over Southern California, the fourth time this season the Bruins have whipped the Trojans. Lew Alcindor, UCLA's super-sophomore, tossed in 26 points.

The Bruins, favored to regain the national championships they yielded last season, now lead a field of 16 survivors into the second round this weekend of the NCAA extravaganza. The Bruins meet the surprising Wyoming Cowboys Friday at Corvallis, Ore.

Wyoming, with a 15-12 record but a seven-game winning streak, whipped Brigham Young 70-63 at Salt Lake City, Utah in the Western Athletic Conference playoff for the NCAA berth.

North Carolina humbled Duke 82-73 in the final of the ACC championship tournament and an automatic NCAA berth. Indiana took the Big Ten NCAA spot by defeating Purdue 95-82.

In the other first round NCAA games Saturday St. John's of New York edged Temple 57-53, Princeton downed West Virginia 68-57, Boston College eliminated Connecticut 48-42, Houston squeaked past New Mexico State 59-58 and Texas Western, the defending national champs, beat Seattle 62-54.

Providence, led by Jimmy Walker's 37 points, whipped Memphis State 77-68 and Marquette nipped Tulsa 64-60 in the other first round games of the NIT.

The University of Pacific won its 20th in a row by defeating San Francisco 63-59. Kansas made it 11 straight by whipping Kansas State 74-56 and Colorado surprised the NIT 4-bound Nebraska Cornhuskers 64-57 in non-tournament action.

Cheyney Enters NCAA Finals

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Fourth-ranked Cheyney State, with only two losses on its record, travels to Evansville, Ind., for a chance at the small college championship of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Cheyney's 80-64 victory Saturday night over Philadelphia Textile means it will represent the eastern region in the NCAA finals, which begin Wednesday. In a consolation game Saturday Wagner's near perfect average from the foul line was enough to give it a 61-53 victory over Dresel.

RYUN RAMBLES

Jim Ryun of Kansas got back on the winning trail Saturday after losing to Villanova's Dave Patrick Friday night by coasting to a 3:58.6 mile, his fastest ever, at the NCAA indoor track and field meet at Detroit. Patrick collapsed after running the anchor leg on Villanova's distance medley relay, which finished in fifth place.

Dean Martin's television show went to the top of the Nielson ratings last week, catching the so-called "experts" flat-footed. A sign outside his studio reads, "Dean is Number One." His comment: "This week, anyhow."

CONGRESS THIS WEEK

Antipoverty War, Dodd in Spotlight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate decisions on a consular treaty with the Soviet Union will make the main congressional voting news this week. But more Capitol Hill headlines are likely to come from public examinations of a senator's finances and of the antipoverty program.

After more warmup debate today, the Senate starts voting tomorrow on two reservations to the consular convention. These have been offered by Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., and proponents of the treaty say if they are adopted the pact will be killed because Moscow will reject it.

"I'm cautiously optimistic we can defeat these reservations," said Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

The Senate ethics committee begins today its inquiry into the financial affairs of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., seeking to learn how he handled extensive sums raised at testimonial affairs put on by friends.

The group expects to look also into Dodd's expense account claims and his reported acceptance of favors from corporations.

Probably less sensational but potentially more far-reaching in its effects on the nation will be a Senate Labor subcommittee inquiry, also opening today, into the antipoverty program. This is expected to last four months and could result in extensive reshaping of one of the most controversial of President Johnson's "Great Society" projects.

Sensors on the Foreign Relations Committee will hear U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg today in a closed session on the proposed outer space treaty.

Automakers Consider UAW Plan

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
DETROIT — The automobile industry has started tentative figuring as to what a guaranteed annual income for its workers would cost, according to a management source.

The implication is that the principal car makers are prepared at least to talk about a yearly wage guarantee for hourly paid workers in the contract negotiations that are scheduled to open in July.

Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers, served notice in a speech Friday that his union would not sign any agreement with management unless the "historic" social advance of a guaranteed annual income was achieved. Observers believe that management will not comment officially on Reuther's warning before a special UAW convention is held here next month at which the union's collective bargaining demands will be formulated.

This year the talks will involve more than 600,000 workers in the industry. Three-year contracts between the UAW and the big three car manufacturers — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler — expire early in September.

The UAW contract with American Motors must be renegotiated later in the year.

LBJ ASKS IT

Increase Social Security?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, plugging his proposed Social Security hikes, said yesterday it is intolerable that millions of elderly citizens live in poverty or depend on public welfare.

Johnson, in a filmed talk for a series of rallies sponsored by the AFL-CIO, said, "More than five million older citizens live in poverty and more than two million must depend on welfare."

The President said nearly 40 per cent of the nation's elderly citizens have total assets of less than $1,000.

"I believe these conditions are intolerable and unnecessary," he said.

His Social Security proposals "will end a shameful condition of social insecurity for millions who have earned their nation's concern," Johnson said.

Johnson has proposed a 20 per cent over-all increase in Social Security payments, with a minimum of at least $150 a month for retired couples and $100 for individuals with 25 years of coverage.

Johnson said if his proposals are enacted into law "they mean that 1.4 million citizens will be lifted out of poverty in 1968."

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey joined in promoting the proposed Social Security changes, calling the pending legislation a must for this session of Congress.

In a speech prepared for a senior citizens' rally in Oklahoma City, Okla., Humphrey said "for the foreseeable future Social Security will be the only retirement system for a majority of the population" and called the present benefits shameful.

Johnson's filmed remarks, along with AFL-CIO President George Meany, were seen at rallies in New York, Boston, Cleveland, Cincinnati, St. Louis, New Orleans, Milwaukee, Denver, Indianapolis, Los Angeles, Seattle, Oklahoma City, Daytona Beach and St. Petersburg, Fla.

Another rally will be held in Chicago on April 9.

Today's meeting of the Warren County District Nurses will be held at Warren State Hospital at 8 p.m., rather than at Warren General Hospital as planned. A board meeting is set for 7:30 p.m.

Rusk: U.S. Will Fight, Talk Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said yesterday the United States would be willing to hold peace talks even while fighting continues in Vietnam.

He spoke as two Republican senators said they would support a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam under certain conditions if it would lead to negotiations — and a retired general cautioned against holding such talks.

Rusk said any scaling-down of the fighting — which has been mounting recently in scope and intensity — by the allies in South Vietnam would have to be matched by North Vietnam.

He acknowledged that no such de-escalation steps have been spelled out by the United States but said "that's something that should be discussed among those who can stop the shooting."

Rusk reiterated his belief that Hanoi holds the key to peace and could end the fighting on its own if it wants to, regardless of Chinese and Soviet influence.

The secretary was interviewed on the ABC television-radio program "Issues and Answers."

Sens. Karl Mundt of South Dakota and Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania spoke of the bombing halt possibilities while Gen. Mark Clark pointed to what he sees as the dangers of negotiating.

Clark, who commanded U.S. forces in Korea, criticized even the talk of negotiations, saying in a copyright interview in U.S. News & World Report: "The more you talk peace and constantly reiterate it, as we are doing now, the more certainly the enemy will construe it as a sign of weakness on our part and say: 'Let's hit him all the harder.'"

Clark said Hanoi would use any negotiations to build up its forces for a takeover of South Vietnam and asserted the lesson learned in Korea "is that you do not negotiate with the Communists from a position of weakness; you can't make concessions; you can't appease them."

And he said peace talks might not automatically end the Vietnam fighting.

"The peace talks at Panmunjon went on for two years while some of the bloodiest fighting of the war continued," he added.

Mundt urged consideration by the administration of the proposal by Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., to offer a bombing halt if North Vietnamese leaders came to a conference table for a negotiated settlement.

Scott said he could support a "standstill in the bombing" if the North Vietnamese agreed to an enforced and inspected "stand fast in the supply lines" to enemy forces in South Vietnam.

Hydrofoil To Travel Lake Erie

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP) — A hydroskimmer, Bell Aerospace's air-cushioned vehicle, will travel the length of ice-covered Lake Erie next week in what company officials said Saturday is the first such feat of its kind.

The 7½-ton amphibious aircraft, the same type used by the Navy in South Vietnam, will make the 235-mile trip with stops in Dunkirk, N. Y., Erie, Pa., Cleveland, Ohio and Pelee Island in Ontario, its destination.

It is "the first attempt by a surface vehicle to travel the length of Lake Erie under winter conditions before the ice breakup and the opening of the navigation season," company officials said.

The hydroskimmer, supported by a four-foot thin cushion of air, can reach speeds in excess of 65 miles per hour.

A company spokesman said the objectives of the trip, a U.S.-Canadian venture, is to obtain engineering data on the over-all performance of the vehicle over a maximum range of the lake under winter conditions.

It is hoped that the hydroskimmer may provide the necessary transportation in the winter for residents and officials of Pelee Island, about 20 miles north of Sandusky, Ohio.

Once the lake freezes over, usually in early December, the only means of transportation to the mainland from the island is by airplane.

Eisenhower High Costs Approved

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)

HARRISBURG — An addition to Eisenhower High School has moved nearer to the construction stage with approval by the State Department of Public Instruction of estimates of cost totaling $1,458,000 of the project.

According to a structure plan, previously approved by the department, the addition will contain eight classrooms, five units for teaching sciences, two instructional planning centers, art-craft area, library, industrial arts shop, music room and faculty room.

Cost estimates cleared by the department included general construction, $763,500; electrical, $125,300; heating and ventilating, $142,500; plumbing, $104,700 and sewage disposal facilities, $75,000.

Structure cost of the project was placed at $1,210,000. The difference between this amount and the total approved by the department for financing of all costs of the addition covers fixtures and equipment, $85,520; architect's fee, $72,600 and contingent fund.

Cost of the project is being financed by issuing municipality authority bonds. Annual rental to be paid by the school board for indebtedness charges and to retire the bonds was estimated by the department at $90,400, based on an interest rate for the bonds of 4½ per cent and a bond period of 30 years.

Capacity of the school was listed at 1,141 pupils.

YOU CAN ENGINEER IT

It's More than Glass

"Glass — An Engineering Material."

Yes, glass is more than just a material used to make a window. And George W. McLellan, a technical information coordinator for Corning Glass Works, will make this clear to Sylva Management Club members at their next meeting Monday.

McLellan, who has been with Corning since 1940 except for four-year tour of Army duty, will provide a one-hour lecture-demonstration which illustrates the versatile engineering capacities of glass and glass ceramics.

The demonstration augmented by slides, describes the characteristics of products ranging from radiation-shielding windows for atomic laboratories to precision electronic capacitors and resistors. Even the common household skillet is included in the uses of this precious material.

"I think every management club member will find this evening enjoyable and enlightening," SMC program director Robert Zimmerman said. "The speaker will lead discussion following his talk and we expect this meeting will be a very interesting one."

The meeting will be held at the K of C Hall. A social hour, beginning at 6 p.m., will precede the 6:45 p.m. dinner, which will be catered by Schuyler's. Reservation deadline is noon Wednesday, March 15.

Having held the position of supervisor of the quality control laboratory, research associate and manager of general product development, McLellan is skilled in the technical application of glass.

He was graduated from the University of Maine in 1937 with the degree of bachelor of arts in physics and then studied further at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. He is a member of the Society of Glass Technology and the American Ceramic Society.

Resurfacing Job

Interstate Amiesite Corp. of Concordville with a figure of $191,046 was apparent low bidder for the resurfacing of 5.73 miles of Legislative Route 380 in Highland Twp. between Marienville and Kane, proposals on which were opened at Harrisburg Friday.

Fluoridation Planned

Meadville city council is expected to reach some decision on fluoridation at its meeting Tuesday evening. Mayor Rice recently stated that council has three choices: vote to fluoridate the city water supply; vote not to fluoridate the water supply, or put the question directly to the voters in a public referendum. There have been strong movements for and against the question for the past several years.

Offer $1,000 Reward

Officials of Gold Star Supermarket at Levant have offered a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who took about $1,200 cash and some merchandise from the store early last week. State police at Falconer, N. Y., continue a probe into the burglary but thus far have come up with little in the way of promising leads.

Engineer Resigns

Franklin continues to have difficulty in retaining a city engineer, Dewey F. Maze resigning the post Friday night at a special session of city council. "Health reasons" were given as the cause of the resignation. Maze was hired at Franklin last September after serving a short time at DuBois. Of the last three engineers employed at Franklin, two were fired and one resigned.

Renewal Funds

Domlnick Lemme, executive director of Meadville Redevelopment Authority reports receipt of $60,000 in advance planning funds for the Water Street urban renewal project there. The survey and planning grant of $162,400 was approved in November, but this is the first receipt of actual cash for the project.

State Seedling Program Instituted by Penelec

Members of the nation's largest family camping organization, the reigning Miss Pennsylvania, and Pennsylvania Electric Company will team up to kick-off the 1967 edition of Penelec's Evergreen Tree Seedling Program with a demonstration planting at Prince Gallitzin State Park in Cambria County.

The Seedling Program, which will run from April 1 through May 15, was inaugurated last year by Penelec. The utility, which serves 33 northern, western and central Pennsylvania counties, provides the seedlings, planting assistance and recognition to civic, youth and other groups that install plantings to screen man-made and natural eyesores along highways and near population centers.

This year's planting season will be kicked-off with a demonstration planting on Saturday, April 1, by members of the National Campers and Hikers Association from chapters throughout western and central Pennsylvania. They will plant 1000 Norway Spruce and 7000 Scotch Pine seedlings to screen an abandoned strip mine at the State Park as a demonstration for the 25,000 members from throughout the nation who will camp at Prince Gallitzin for the Association's national convention in July.

The Campers and Hikers chapters located in the 17,500-square-mile Penelec service area have adopted the utility's Evergreen Tree Seedling Program as one of their projects.

The National Campers and Hikers Association is the oldest and largest international family camping organization in North America and conducts activities to educate the public on the necessity of conservation of natural resources.

On Friday evening, March 31, the Pennsylvania Electric Company will play host to about 150 NCHA members at a dinner to be held at the American Legion Hall in Patton, Pa. The guests will camp for the weekend at Flinton, Pa.

On the following day, Saturday, April 1, at 1:30 p.m., Miss Pennsylvania will plant the first evergreen seedling of the 1967 program, and the Campers and Hikers' group will then complete the demonstration planting.

The Evergreen Tree Seedling Program was inaugurated by Penelec "as a practical approach to helping civic groups make their communities more attractive to new industry and to tourists and is a means of encouraging sound conservation practices. Last year, 82 groups planted about 140,000 seedlings under the Penelec Program.

Project kits, complete with application form, planting instructions and other pertinent information, are available to community groups, upon request, from the local Penelec manager.

Encouraged to participate are civic, business and social groups, churches, granges, coal operator organizations and youth groups such as school classes, Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, 4-H Clubs, Future Farmers of America and Future Homemakers of America.

Generally the planting recommended consist of evergreen tree seedlings planted on narrow strips of land, and vary from two to 10 rows of seedlings in depth.

This practice has proved effective in screening strip mined areas, inactive refuse piles from mining or quarrying operations, land denuded by forest fire or erosion, deserted industrial locations, abandoned land which has reverted to weeds, and other man-made eyesores which detract from the beauty and value of the entire area.

After a community group has selected a planting site, and it has been approved by local Penelec officials, the utility's

Forestry Department will prepare a planting plan and arrange for delivery of the proper number of seedlings. The species best suited to local soil conditions will be selected by Penelec foresters and, as in 1966, seedlings will be purchased from local nurseries whenever possible.

A color slide presentation explaining the seedling program is being presented by Penelec district managers throughout the Company's service area, and they are now accepting applications for planting projects from groups interested in participating.

HE KNOWS KARATE

Karate Experts Perform For Lions Club Party

Experts from the Shuto School of Karate highlighted Saturday night's zone party of the area's Lions Clubs, which was held at Jackson Valley Country Club.

The karate experts were under the direction of Tom Handest. On hand to see the demonstration were members of four clubs and their guests. The Lions came from Kane, Pine Grove Township, Sheffield and Warren.

Members of the karate school in the demonstration were Handest, Mrs. Handest, Pat Hultquist, Denny Lane, Scott Jenkinson and Danny Tomason.

District guests at the meeting were Laverne Peterson of Greenville, district governor; George Walters, B. F. Holey, and James Murray, past district governors and all from Edinboro, and William Luper of Titusville.

John Crone of Warren arranged the event, Vic Miller of Warren was toastmaster.

Accidents In Area

On Increase

Six persons were killed in auto accidents in the Erie district of State Police jurisdiction, according to the monthly report made by the commanding officer of Troop E, Capt. Robert L. Dunham.

It was an increase of four over the same period last year, when two persons died. This February had state police checking 289 accidents, compared to 183 last February.

The top causes of accidents still remain reckless driving and driving too fast for conditions. Next are failure to yield right-of-way, failure to give proper signals when turning, failure to obey traffic signs and signals, following too closely, and failure to yield one-half of the highway.

Two of the accidents investigated last month were caused by pedestrians and two were caused by deer. Two were caused by other animals on the highway.

Drivers' examination details of the state police processed a total of 967 persons for operators' license, with 741 passing the examinations and 226 failing to meet the requirements.

14 Graduate Assistantships To Be Awarded

Edinboro State College will award 14-$1200 graduate assistantships for the 1967-68 academic year, according to Dr. Jack Williams, Director of the Graduate Program.

These graduate assistantships will be awarded to full-time students wishing to earn Master of Education degrees. There will be 4 in elementary education; 3 in guidance and counseling; 3 in English; 2 in social studies; 1 in biological science and 1 in physical science.

Interested students should contact Dr. Williams of the Graduate office for detailed information and applications, which must be submitted by 5 p.m., May 1. They will be awarded by June 1, 1967.

Currently there are 4 full-time graduate assistants working in the science, education, guidance and counseling and social studies on the Edinboro State College campus.

A SMALL BUT LOVELY WEDDING took place on Saturday, March 11th, when the parsonage of the United Church of Christ was the setting, for the exchange of nuptial vows between Diane L. Tannier and Knute A. Callahan. The Rev. Frederick Kramer, pastor of the church, read the double ring service, at 1 o'clock that afternoon. The bride wore a Robin's Egg blue suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations, with a head-dress of white tulle, teardrop design. The bride's honor attendant was her sister, Mrs. Dudley Winerter who was in a green and pink tattersall suit with matching accessories and had a corsage of pink roses. Best man was Dudley Winerter. Following the service, a reception for fifty guests was held in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tannier, 50 Locust street. Decorations were carried out with white wedding bells and streamers and a beautifully decorated tier wedding cake. Upon their return from a honeymoon in New York City, the new Mr. and Mrs. Callahan were at home to their friends at their new residence, 105 Market street. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Callahan of Warren.

THE 11TH ANNUAL MINISTERS WORKSHOP is being held in Youngsville this week from March 14th through the 17th. Instructors for the session will be Dr. Orville S. Walters, director of health services at the University of Illinois, and Dr. Kenneth Carr Kinghorn, Department of Church History at Asbury Theological Seminary. Dr. Walters is Professor of Psychiatry in the University of Illinois College of Medicine, and has written extensively on the relationship between psychiatry and religion. He completed his training in Psychiatry at the Menninger School of Psychiatry in Topeka, Kansas, and is certified as a specialist in his field, having earned the diploma of the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology. Dr. Kinghorn holds a Ph.D. from Emory University and is Associate Professor of Church History at Asbury Theological Seminary, and includes among his many other credits, membership in Theta Phi—the national society for scholarship in religion—and has contributed a number of articles to the forthcoming Encyclopedia of World Methodism. Courses at the workshop will be "Psychiatry and the Ministry," and "Pivotal Points in Church History." Host for this big event is the Youngsville Free Methodist Church. The women of Broken-Straw Grange will provide meals at a nominal cost, according to Mrs. Don Warner of the grange. The public is invited to attend any of the meetings said Mrs. Reed Pierson, member of the Youngsville church.

MINIATURES: The Pre-School Child Development Study Group will meet tomorrow at 8:15 at the Peneloc. Mrs. Evelyn Over-tune, home economist, will give a cooking demonstration. Mrs. Alar Stephens is chairman for refreshments.

In the Tidouste High School gym on Saturday, March 18th, a sequenctial film will be shown and square dancing enjoyed. The festive evening starts at 7:30 and tickets are $1, adults; 25 cents, students. Refreshments will be available.

And the movie "Parallels" is to be shown tomorrow night at the meeting of the St. Francis Guild at 7:30 in the parish house of St. Francis of Assisi Church, Youngsville. The general public is invited. This is the unusual film that was exhibited at the Protestant Pavilion of the New York World's Fair.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Have you ever heard of "Bop the Bunny?" Well, neither had I—until yesterday.

Some local people decided there should be more "togetherness" between fathers and sons, so they organized a Hunt Group. Since most of the boys were too young for guns (under 10 years of age) the "hunters" decided to use rocks and sticks as weapons.

The idea of the game is to make a human chain across a field and let the dogs loose to flush out the rabbits. As the rabbits run out of the brush to escape the dogs, the fathers and sons hit the defenseless creatures with sticks and rocks. The good aimers who land fatal blows are the heroes of the game. They call it "Bop the Bunny."

My first reaction was "those poor rabbits," but then I began to think "these poor children." What a tragedy to be brought up to believe it is fun to beat helpless animals to death.

I contacted the Humane Society and asked why they allowed such cruelty. The reply was, "There is nothing they can do about it." I'd like to know why not.

Please tell me what you think about this game. I have been arguing with people since last Sunday. You'd be surprised at the number of folks who think it's perfectly all right. CHARLESTON, S.C.

DEAR CHARLESTON: I checked with the Humane Society in Chicago and learned that the authorities of their National Headquarters took legal action to try to stop "Bunny Bopping" in North Carolina but the judge ruled that the society had "no right to meddle." The Illinois conservation laws, on the other hand, would not tolerate "Bunny Bopping."

In all fairness it must be conceded that rabbits can pose a threat to a rural economy just as rats can be a problem to urban society, but when this occurs the rabbits should be exterminated in a humane manner. To make a game of beating rabbits to death and to call it "fun" is utterly indefensible.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a woman of 30 with four good children and a fine husband. I have been reading your column for many years and like so many others, I never dreamed that one day I would be writing to you for advice. But here I am. I was raised in the Lutheran faith and attended a church school. We were taught to live by the Ten Commandments. I believe one should love his neighbor as himself and for this reason I have always been very kind to two unmarried ladies who live on our block.

Yesterday we had a heavy snow. I noticed the walk in front of their home was not shoveled, so I offered to shovel it. To my astonishment I was told that snow was an act of God and they did not wish to go against His will.

I decided to shovel the walk anyway. An hour later I received a phone call from one of the sisters ordering me to stay off their property and mind my own business.

I ask you, Ann Landers, does it pay to be nice to people? INSULTED

DEAR INSULTED: Yes, it pays to be nice to people. Moreover, it can be downright rewarding. BUT—when the people are a little cuckoo, anything can happen. So please don't let these two dollies sour you on the Ten Commandments. What else can you name that still works after more than 3,000 years?

Do you feel all at ease . . . but if not? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hints From Heloise

Cooking Meats

DEAR FOLKS: Let me put a little bee in your bonnet about how to thaw steaks, chops, and anything in the meat line . . .

When you take meat out of your freezer in the frozen state, DON'T remove the wrapper to let it thaw quickly. This ruins good meat. I'm not talking about hamburger. I'm talking about roast, steaks and chops . . .

In the morning, remove whatever meat you are going to cook that night, leave it in its original wrapper, then wrap it in about three sheets of newspaper.

Along about dinner time the meat will have slowly thawed. You will find much less blood has escaped and you will have a much juicier piece of meat when cooked.

If you must have some meat in a hurry, or have forgotten to thaw it, then for goodness sake fry it while it's still in its frozen state.

The heat from the fire will sear the outside of the meat and this will keep the juices in.

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE: When pouring water or vegetable oil from a can of tuna fish, you will find it much easier if you use a potato masher.

I insert a round masher in the can, and it fits snugly. Holding the can in the other hand, I tip the can upside Joyce Martin S.S.J., of the Sisters of St. Joseph, Erie, and former member of St. Joseph Parish; Sister Agnes, Order of St. Benedict, of St. Joseph School, this city; the Rev. Father Guy Patrick of the faculty of St. Mark's Seminary, Erie.

This program is an annual function of the C.C.D. classes of the parish high school students, to which parents are also invited. Refreshments will be served.

At 8:30 p.m. there will be a Commentators meeting and Workshop with social gatherings afterwards.

Tomorrow evening at 7:30 the Explorer Post will meet.

Wednesday at 7 p.m. the CCD Teachers Doctrine Course, and at the same hour a meeting of the Boy Scouts. Choir rehearsal is to be at 7:15.

Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock Stations of the Cross and Benediction. At 6 p.m. the Altar Society tureen dinner. Friday at 7:30 p.m. Stations of the Cross and Benediction. Saturday morning at 11 o'clock a Solemn High Mass in honor of St. Joseph.

Pre Cane Classes being conducted this week in St. Joseph's School opened last night. The remaining two will be tomorrow night and Thursday night at 7 p.m.; it is required that all couples contemplating marriage between Easter and June 15 attend these classes.

A New You by Emily Wilkens

Spring Cleaning

It's time to spruce up and get ready to emerge from the gray days of winter into the sunny focus of springtime. Here's how to put yourself in order for March 21:

Detail Your Diet: Take advantage of all the fresh fruits and vegetables which are starting to appear at the market. Revise your eating habits. Heavier foods are fine for cold winter days but are really unnecessary in the spring.

Figure Fatigue: If you've developed a mid-winter slump (head-down-against-the-wall type of posture) use your chore time to shape up your stance and your figure. Straighten up and get some exercise. It's fun to run around the block (or at least walk briskly) in the fresh air.

Spring-Time Skin: Look at your complexion under a revealing light. Is it ready to face the sun? Plan to give yourself a cleansing facial at least once a week and change your makeup for a fresher look. The pearly, glittery approaches that were so right for holiday parties are all wrong for welcoming the first daffodil. Choose clearer and brighter colors to wear as the weather gets warmer.

Happier Hair: Make a seasonal transition by changing your hair style. If you've been putting off a much-needed permanent, set one now. If a winter under hats has made hair drab, try a good conditioning treatment to bring it back to life.

Assess Your Accoutrements: Look over all the tools you use for grooming and makeup. Toss away wornout lipsticks, soiled powder puffs, used emery boards, dry mascara wands. Put your makeup house in order. It's fun to renew your supply—try a new product or two!

Weed Out Your Wardrobe: Don't be caught without a thing to wear on the first warm day of the season. Get out last year's clothes, try them on, get to work on the ones that need to be fixed and banish the discards.

Active Accessories: Line up the purses and shoes you'll be wearing for spring. Take care of necessary repairs and polish them up.

Once you've given yourself and your belongings a thorough "clean-up" you'll face this spring as a spruced-up NEW YOU. JUST FOR YOU: Rejuvenate your good jewelry (except pearls) via a five-minute dunk in ammoniated household cleaner. Freshen costume jewelry with a sponge dampened in mild suds.

Woman's Club Art Department To Hold Final Meeting

The final meeting of the year for the Art Department of the Woman's Club of Warren will be held Monday, March 13, at 2 o'clock.

The program, "New and Exciting Concepts in Interior Design," will be presented by Mrs. George W. Nelson, local designer and decorator, who heads her own firm of Geraldine E. Nelson, Interiors, located at 222 Pennsylvania avenue west.

Mrs. Nelson received her early training at the New York School of Design and has had many years of experience designing residential and commercial interiors.

With spring the season for home renovating and redecorating, club members are interested in hearing Mrs. Nelson's timely suggestions for the newest in home decorating.

WOMEN GETTING RE-TIRED

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Women, seldom seen around tire racks a few years ago, now buy 15 percent of the 100-million-plus replacement tires sold annually in the United States, says The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company.

The Birth Of The 'Thriller' Recounted By Minister

In his speech on "Gothic Literature—The Revival of the Ridiculous" at the meeting of the Association of College Women on Wednesday, March 8, the Reverend R. Lee Mull, assistant pastor of the First Lutheran Church, stated that Gothic literature was a type of fiction produced in England in the late eighteenth century and early nineteenth century. This movement of English literature brought forth no great novels or novelists but left a decided literary influence upon later writings.

Gothic literature possessed a plot built around a dramatic mystery such as a disappearance, a concealment of parentage, an unsolved crime, or the mismanagement of an inheritance. The solution usually came at the end of the Gothic tale of horror.

The atmosphere was alive with danger, terror, torture, dark grottos, clanking chains, forged documents, haunted castles, murder, and violence.

The actual physical environment showed an ancient lonely castle or abbey, torrents, howling winds, moors, all of which contributed to the alarm of the heroine, who was usually the central figure.

In 1764 Walpole produced "The Castle of Otranto," the first great Gothic novel. It was this famous and charming letter writer, who, seeking escape from the real world, started the fashion of grotesque, bloodcurdling tales of horror and of the supernatural. Others to follow were "Champion of Virtue" by Clara Reeve, "The Old Manor House" by Charlotte Smith, and "The Recess" by Sophia Lee.

Mrs. Ann Ward Radcliffe, who was probably the most influential of the Gothic novelists, wrote "The Mysteries of Udolpho," her best novel, which alternately puzzled and chilled readers.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—All things may not go exactly as you desire, but you will find many advantages, anyway—if you look carefully in all areas.
APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Emphasize such of your traits as conservatism—plus the ability to spend for sound purpose, constructive action, perseverance and a gracious demeanor. With them you can make gains.
MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Mercury, benefic, invites you to bring forth your finest now. The only way in which you could possibly stymie good results is through abrupt speech—not normal with you. Stress that fine Geminian warmth of personality.
JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—This day will be a far better one than you may anticipate at first. Be enthusiastic, but not hurried; resolute, not obstinate. You have much to gain.
JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Have faith in your objectives, confidence in your methods—providing that you have deliberated and made SURE what your objectives are and the feasibility of these methods.
AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—Don't put off tiresome tasks or you will regret it later. They'll be twice as difficult to handle. Find ways to advance through means not noted before.
SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Family concerns, personal interest generally, and business matters each share beneficial planetary influences. If you do your best, day's harvest will please.
OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio)—Consider new methods and techniques, but don't overreach your capacities. Neither be over-anxious. Impress others with your poise and good judgment.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)—Don't believe that you are alone in strife, difficulty or dilemma. They are everywhere—but YOU can conquer through your innate modesty and self-discipline.
DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn)—Plan your schedule in orderly fashion, lest things trivial or witless intercept their time-wasting tunes. A day for concentrating on essentials—and HUMOR!
JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius)—Uranus, fairly favorable, promises a generally satisfactory day. Keep yourself in line and you will help others to do likewise, making gains for all.
FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—Avoid ill will and recklessness; also reaching for the unreasonable. Don't stop figuring, believing, dreaming, but keep both feet on the ground and maintain an even pace.

YOU BORN TODAY have enough initiative and the lofty desire to take on the best of anything, and common sense enough to delete the worthless. But with all this know-how, you may over-dissect, become too minutely concerned with trivialities. Your artistry shows in everything, neatness is unborn, you abhor underhandedness. In Pisces is the classical scholar, the jurist, teacher, dramatist, writer.

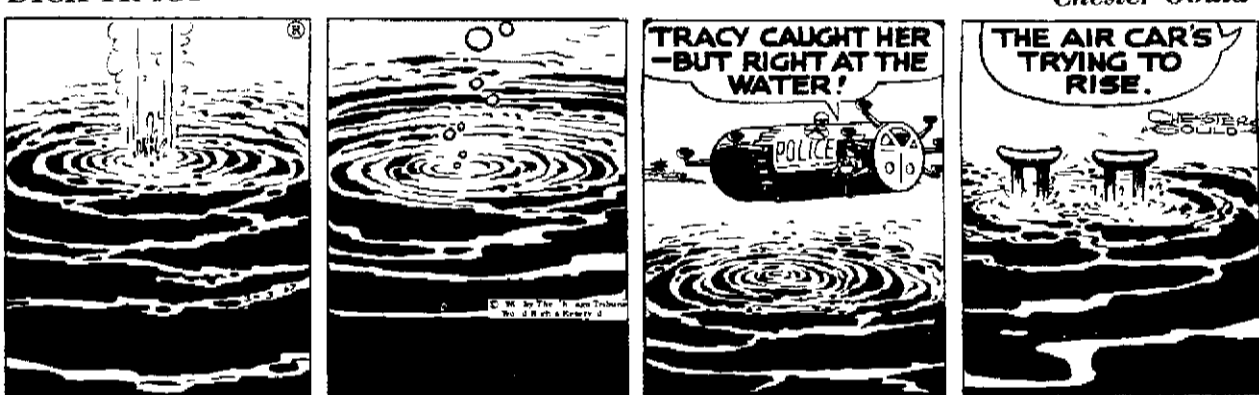

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

The kidneys manufacture approximately three pints of urine a day. The secretion passes thru the right and left ureters into the bladder and from there to the outside via the urethra. Men void on an average of five times in a 24-hour period and women, three to four times. The urge to empty the bladder one or more times at night may be a habit rather than a need and usually occurs after drinking liquids before retiring and in the tense and emotionally disturbed. If such factors do not play a role, a urinary tract disturbance may be responsible.
Excessive urination (polyuria) may be due to diabetes (mellitus or insipidus) or to certain kidney disorders. The renal organs concentrate urine and when this function is lost thru disease or degeneration of the kidneys, they are forced to double or triple their output to dissolve and eliminate the usual amount of waste material. The bladder is emptied several times at night and the quantity may exceed that excreted during the day.
Frequency is a sign of irritation or injury along the urinary tract. The membranes may be so sensitive the urge comes every 15 to 20 minutes. Burning (dysuria) ensues if the secretion is concentrated or too acid and when the membranes are irritated thru inflammation. Bleeding may stem from ulcer or infection of the bladder wall. When hemorrhage follows injury, a bleeding laceration may exist.
Nervousness and frequency are close companions. This is exemplified by the student who has the urge just before writing a final examination and a speaker who is about to deliver an address.
Too little urine may be more serious than too much. It is natural to urinate less when sweating is profuse but the decrease is significant when associated with shock, dehydration, or serious forms of kidney disease. Failure to void means obstruction or loss of kidney function. Unless the structures are encouraged to work, uremia will ensue.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request. TOMORROW: The End of Measles.
JACKSONIAN EPILEPSY
M.B. writes: What kind of epilepsy is jacksonian?
REPLY
A peculiar form of the disorder in which the convulsive movements start in the muscles of the hand, foot, or face and spread slowly. The seizure may end spontaneously or it may be stopped by squeezing the part; if severe, it may involve the remainder of the body with generalized convulsions and loss of consciousness.
LOVES MEAT
Mrs. P. writes: My husband loves meat and eats it twice a day. Is this safe?
REPLY
Yes, and it is worth it provided he can afford it. Many people eat meat three times a day; bacon or sausage for breakfast, a ham or hamburger sandwich for lunch, and steak, fish or chicken for dinner.
FROG IN THROAT
J. S. writes: What causes dry gag? This happens to me every morning and may last one-half hour until I bring something up.
REPLY
Tenacious sputum. You may be overly sensitive to a small amount of mucus that is likely to disappear by the time breakfast is over.
75 NOT OLD
Mrs. N. R. writes: You refer to people of 75 as oldsters. I'm 75 and object strenuously to being called an oldster.
REPLY
You have a right to complain because only those 10 years older than ourselves are old. Today's Health Hint—Dress warmly, but not to become overheated.

Data Processors To Honor Bosses

The members of the Penn-York Chapter of the Data Processing Management Association will honor their bosses at their monthly meeting Thursday, at the Castle Restaurant, Olean, N. Y. The evening will start with a social hour at 5:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 7:00 p.m.

Gus Fendrock, director of computer operations for the Air Reduction Company, will be the principal speaker. His topic will be "Management's Vital Role in Business Systems." Fendrock received his B. S. degree from the University of Scranton in 1951 and subsequently completed various technical and operations research courses at Temple University, Case Institute of Technology and the University of Pennsylvania. He is a member of the Operations Research Society and computers users group, "GUIDE."

Frank Etkerson, president of the Penn-York Chapter extends an invitation to all members and their bosses to attend.

RALPH NADER Nader to Speak In St. Marys Tuesday Night

A large audience turnout is expected tomorrow night to hear nationally prominent Ralph Nader speak on automobile safety. Nader's 8:00 p.m. talk at the 1100-seat Elk County Christian High School Auditorium in St. Marys is open without charge to the public with seats on a non-reserved, first-come, first-served basis.

Tuesday night's presentation is sponsored by the Penn-York Joint Technical Societies including the American Chemical Society, Pennsylvania Society of Professional Engineers and the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers. Publicity on Mr. Nader's talk has been circulated to newspapers, radio stations, schools, civic clubs, and police organizations throughout Western Pennsylvania and New York.

Nader, a 33-year old practicing lawyer, sprung to national prominence with his successful crusade to improve traffic safety and automobile design. A native New Englander, Nader earned a B.A. degree from Princeton and a doctor of laws degree from Harvard Law School. He is authorized to practice before both the Connecticut and Massachusetts Bars. He is a member of the American Bar Association. His book "Unsafe at Any Speed" was an immediate best seller. His articles have appeared in over ten magazines ranging from "Reader's Digest" to the "Harvard Law Record."

Ralph Nader is a bachelor, loves strawberry shortcake, owns no car, and travels widely. His crusade to make the public aware of industrial safety problems has ranged from reminding engineers of their responsibilities to maintain professional standards to exhaustive and persuasive analyses of failures to warn buyers of dangerously and faultily designed units.

Prices and Volume Up For the Week

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
 NEW YORK—Prices and volume were both up last week on the American Stock Exchange and on the over-the-counter market.

President Johnson's request on Thursday for restoration of the 7 per cent investment tax credit brought an overnight flood of buy orders into both markets.

Machinery equipment manufacturers were quick to hail the move and stocks of these companies were in the forefront of the Friday advance.

The National Quotation Board's index of 35 industrial issues on the over-the-counter market rose 6.50 to 272.13. The American Stock Exchange's index of stock prices rose 45 cents to $17.12. During the week it touched a high of $17.50. Its low was $16.62. Volume last week amounted to 24,339,180 shares, compared with 19,591,745 the week before. Several industrial issues on the over-the-counter market advanced strongly on Friday. Pettibone Mulliken, a machinery equipment producer, was up 3 1/2. Giddings & Lewis, another machinery producer, was ahead by 4 points at week's end.

Also moving higher was the transportation group. Continental Transportation Lines and D.C. International were up 1 1/4. Wings & Wheels was up 4 1/2. World Airways 5, and Trans International Air 4 1/2.

Camco Inc., a manufacturer of oil industry equipment was up 3 after its management forecast a profitable year.

Other industrial issues moving higher last week were: Acme Visible Records 2 1/4, Acushnet Process 3 1/2, American Greeting 4 1/2, Coffee Mat 6, Aerovox 4 1/2, C. R. Bard 4 1/2, American Heritage 3, Culligan 3, Global Marine 3 1/2, Harper & Row 7 1/2, Nashua 3 1/2, and Dun & Bradstreet 3. American Express was down 6 points.

Fire and casualty insurance stocks were lower in the trading. Selling was not as pronounced in the life insurance group and prices were mixed. Aetna Life was up 3 and Connecticut General 5, National Life & Accident was down 1, and Liberty National 3.

Volume leader for the week on the American Stock Exchange was 7 Arts Productions, with a turnover of 507,100 shares. It closed at 27 1/2, up 1/2. Other issues actively traded were: Cinerama, up 1 1/2 at 7 1/2 on volume of 476,500; Bunker Ramo, up 2 at 11 1/2 on a volume of 399,800; Syntex, up 3 1/2 at 93 on 275,100 shares, and Veritron, up 12 1/4 at 34 1/2 on a volume of 274,700.

G. C. MURPHY SPECIAL

G.C. Murphy Company Sponsors Indianapolis '500' Entries

The G. C. Murphy Company, a 510 store national variety chain, has started its third year in racing as sponsor of Lindsey Hopkins' 1967 Indianapolis "500" entries.

Murphy's sponsorship plans were officially announced at a press dinner at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Hotel last week. Hopkins presented his two 1967 "500" entries to Speedway owner Tony Hulman at the press function.

"G. C. Murphy Specials" are "Eagles" built by All American Racers and are powered with rear mounted Ford engines. One is the 1966 model which ran in last year's "500" while the second is new this year. Also, an Offy powered dirt car is included in the sponsorship arrangements. This will provide a Murphy sponsored car for each 1967 Championship Trail race. As in 1966, United States Auto Club veteran Roger McCluskey will drive the "G. C. Murphy Special." McCluskey is winner of USAC's 1966 Sprint Division Crown. He has qualified cars in five of the last six Indy "500's". In the 1966 "500" Roger waged a 200 mile battle with Jackie Stewart for third place before being forced to retire after 325 miles because of an oil leak. He was awarded 13th place with a purse of $13,123.

McCluskey won the Langhorne "150" miler August 7, 1966, placed second in the 100 mile Rex May Memorial in June, finished fifth in the Trenton "200" in September and was sixth in the first Langhorne race. His point total on the 1966 Championship Trail earned Roger 12th place in final standings. He also won the USAC Sprint Championship for the second time in his career. Jack Beckley, who joined the Hopkins stable in 1956, will continue to handle the chief mechanic's duties. One of the country's outstanding mechanics, the Los Angeles veteran has prepared cars for many of the country's most famous drivers.

Lindsey Hopkins a Miami and Atlanta business executive, is a veteran car owner who entered Championship racing in 1950 and, with Henry Banks as driver, won the national championship that year. Active in racing circles, Hopkins is currently Southern vice president of the United States Auto Club.

THE WEEK IN FINANCE

LBJ's Move on Tax Credit is Applauded

By THOMAS E. MULLANEY

Washington has begun to recognize—and respond to—wide-spread concern in the business community over the rapid and sharp slowdown in the private sector of the economy.

The most significant counter-offensive so far was President Johnson's call last Thursday for immediate restoration of the 7 per cent investment tax credit that was suspended last fall as an anti-inflation measure.

That move, coming in the wake of repeated efforts to ease money conditions and steps to pump funds into housing and highway programs, was warmly applauded in economic and business circles.

It won particular endorsement in the stock market, which celebrated the news with a rally in near-record trading on Friday. In the first hour alone, turnover on the New York Stock Exchange topped five million shares.

Investors were impressed and encouraged by the Administration's recurrent applications this year of its Keynesian philosophy—active Government intervention into the economy to stimulate aggregate demand.

There was, however, some disappointment among businessmen and others that the President did not couple his investment-credit announcement with an abandonment of the Administration's January proposal for a 6 per cent surcharge on corporate and personal income taxes.

The Administration's adherence to the surcharge recommendation seems to be linked to the belief that inflationary dangers may still confront the nation in the second half of the year, even if the business investment area no longer shows over-exuberance.

Many economists have been advocating disavowal of the surcharge recommendation on the ground that deteriorating economic conditions now make such action inappropriate.

Washington may also be motivated by fears of an excessively large Federal deficit this year as a result of heavy spending. On this point, Dr. William Freund, economist for the Prudential Insurance Company, observed last week: "The Federal budget might well suffer a larger deficit with a tax surcharge than without one. A tax increase which smother the forces of expansion will lead to lesser tax revenues than no tax increase at all."

Some other economists are even calling for new excise tax cuts as the next Governmental step in an effort to strengthen consumer demand for durable goods. This could inject an additional $3-billion of spending power into the economy.

Perhaps it would now be appropriate also to have a slight reduction in the Federal Reserve's discount rate and in the prime lending rate at major banks to work against any further major slippage in the economy.

If Congress approves restoration of the investment credit and accelerated depreciation as promptly as many expect, the effect might well be the addition of some $2-billion to $3-billion this year to business spending plans for new plant and equipment.

It would, in effect, mean resumption of the spending previously pruned by business because of the 7 per cent credit suspension.

The President's proposal, sudden and unexpected, was doubtless triggered by a new Government survey that found business capital spending intentions even lower than the reduced rate generally expected for this year.

The survey pointed to an actual downturn in capital spending in the first and second quarters of this year from the fourth-quarter rate in 1966. It also indicated a gain of only 3.9 per cent for the full year, against last year's booming 16.7 per cent increase.

Even a rise of 3.9 per cent however, would not represent a physical gain since prices of capital equipment have probably jumped more than that since last year.

But the further upturn in these expenditures now envisioned as a result of the President's dramatic intervention should help to offset the further declines that still loom in another sector of the economy—industrial production.

With automobile sales still depressed and steel output lagging from last year's pace, the industrial production index may well suffer a decline of 5 per cent, or more, from last year's record level before an expected upturn sets in during the second half of 1967.

While autos and steel are the most significant elements in the industrial downturn there are many others contributing to the present weakness in the production index. Among them are the declines in output of appliances, lumber, textiles, paper, tobacco and construction materials.

Up to this point, though, there is no cause for great alarm. The recent business slide may well turn out to be no more than a pause in the nation's six-year economic expansion, even though nine of the 12 leading economic indicators are now pointed downward.

The optimists are still firmly convinced that the arrival of spring will restore consumer confidence and spark a brisk

A Dream in My Heart

By DOROTHY L. BROWN, M.D.,
Nashville, Tennessee

When I was 5 several of us children living in the same orphanage in Troy, New York, were taken to a hospital for tonsillitides.

If I had any fears I lost them the moment I was struck by the sights and sounds and smells of the hospital. Somehow I knew even then that this wondrous world would be my world, that this was the kind of work I would do when I grew up.

For a child in my position this was the wildest dream I could have had.

I had been born out of wedlock. Soon after my birth my mother left me with friends in Troy, but they couldn't care for me and so they placed me in the orphanage, where I spent the next 12 years of my life.

As soon as I could speak after my operation I started telling people that I was going to become a doctor. I kept saying so as I grew up, receiving in return either patient smiles or impatient frowns and the advice that I should start being realistic.

I didn't know that I have always been realistic. A lonely child learns early to fend for herself, whatever confronts her. She soon discovers that her life will be only what she makes of it.

When I was 13, my mother unexpectedly appeared and took me to live with her in Troy. She supported us as well as she could by cleaning homes, which meant that I was usually alone, living in what amounted to a Negro ghetto.

And for the first time I experienced the despair with which so many Negroes viewed life. We weren't supposed to have much of a chance. We were expected to resign ourselves to a world against us.

I couldn't accept that. At the orphanage, I was one of six Negroes among 250 children, and we had all been treated the same.

Why should it make a difference now? Unhappy, I ran away from home three times, always heading for the orphanage, but each time I was brought back.

At 14, I had to quit school and go to work as a maid for a family that had had some children my own age.

When I told my employer that I intended to become a doctor, she helped me by teaching me how to budget my $14 weekly salary.

In two years I saved $500—enough to start, I felt. I also believed that becoming a doctor would be a good thing, something God would approve, perhaps something He even wanted.

"With Your help," I prayed, "I am going to make it." I had no idea how much help He was ready to give, and now looking back my heart is full of gratitude for all the help He did give.

The day I registered for high school I had no job, no home, and when the registrar asked for my address I said, "I don't have one, but I'll find a room this afternoon and give you the address tomorrow."

After I explained my circumstances, the principal said he knew a Christian Negro couple, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wesley Redmon, who might let me live with them, and he telephoned them. Immediately they invited me into their home, and with that I acquired a family of my own. I grew to call them Grandma and Grandpa.

They were poor; Grandpa worked for a road construction company, but somehow he always managed to earn enough to feed me and other children who were welcomed into the house.

In 1937, on graduating from high school, I returned to my old work to earn money for college. One day I figured that, at the rate of my income, it would take me 11 years to earn enough for college.

With hopes of cutting the time I took extra jobs, one in the home of Mrs. Charles E. Smart, who was active in the women's group at her Methodist church.

As I did with everyone, I told Mrs. Smart that I was going to become a doctor. She asked me if I were serious about college; when I assured her I was, she said, "Our group at church is thinking of sponsoring a girl at Bennett College in North Carolina. I want you to meet my friends, and if they approve, you may get the scholarship."

They approved. In September I became a college student. As in high school, I took all the science courses I could, preparing for medical school.

In 1941, I faced a familiar problem: no money. Then World War II created a manpower shortage and the Army turned to women with science backgrounds to work as inspectors in ordnance depots.

In two years, by living at home with Grandma and Grandpa, I saved $2,000, and though I knew this was far from enough I also knew I couldn't wait any longer. I entered Meharry Medical College in Nashville.

When my funds ran out, the Methodist women again came to my aid. I received my medical degree in 1948; after internship in New York I returned to Meharry for five years' training in surgery, and since 1954, in addition to teaching at Meharry, I have been in practice in Nashville.

Not a day has passed without the realization that I am now living the dream which entered my heart when I was 5 years old. And I have come to believe that just as God gives each one of us our special talent, so does He give us our dreams to make us aware of the talent.

If we remain steadfast, if we have enough faith in God and in ourselves to go to work and to stay at work making the dream come true, then God puts into our lives the people who, out of their love for Him and us, will do for us what we cannot do for ourselves.

Looking back on my life I know that this is true. These days I devote my life to assuring the young that no matter what they are, or what their early years may have done to them, they can dream. But I also tell them that they must do—and then their dreams will come true.

Next—John D. George, Angwin, Calif., broadcasting official, tells how a drunk took him to church and taught him a great lesson.

Tax Errors Holding Up Thousands of Returns

Income tax refunds of more than 170,000 taxpayers in Pennsylvania and four other states in the Mid-Atlantic Region are being delayed because of taxpayer errors. This announcement was made by H. Alan Long, District Director of Internal Revenue for Western Pennsylvania.

He said the errors include omitted or erroneous social security numbers, missing signatures, missing Forms W-2, missing statements and schedules, mathematical errors, and use of the wrong taxable.

"These returns can not be processed until the necessary information is furnished by the taxpayer. Tax returns without the signature of the taxpayer will be returned before refunds can be processed," he said.

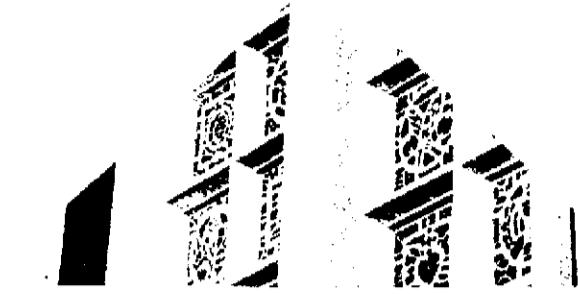

Long urged taxpayers to "take another look" before filing their returns to make sure all information is complete and accurate. That correct social security numbers are entered, all Forms W-2 are attached, and that returns are signed, in the case of a joint return by husband and wife, both taxpayers must sign.

"As of March 4, 1967," he said, "more than 67,000 Western Pennsylvania taxpayers have received refunds on their 1966 returns totaling more than $25 million."

Masonic Order Salutes Bishop

ERIE — The Ancient, Accepted Scottish Rite of Erie yesterday extended glad greetings to the Erie Catholic Diocese's new Bishop, John F. Whealon, and issued an expression of sadness at Archbishop John Mark Gannon's departure from "the helm." The message appeared in this week's issue of The Lake Shore Visitor and was signed by Erie's Commander-in-Chief, Arthur M. Meyer.

ART BUCHWALD

How To Win The War

WASHINGTON — The debate on Vietnam has been escalating along with the fighting, and now it's rare to go to a party and not get into a hot fight over what we should or should not be doing there.

Prof. Heinrich Applebaum, the military analyst of Seventeen magazine, has just written a book titled "How to Fight the Vietnam War in the Living Room." It is the only book written for both doves and hawks and I was happy to interview him about it the other day.

Buchwald

"This year will not be won in the rice paddies of the Mekong Delta, but rather in the salons and renovated basements of the American home," Applebaum told me.

"How does one start a discussion on the Vietnamese war?"

"The best way is to say 'I agree we shouldn't have been there in the first place, but . . . It's a perfect opener if you're a hawk and it shows you're willing to concede that the government has made mistakes."

"And if you're a dove?"

"Your opening line should be 'I'm not for just pulling out and leaving South Vietnam in the lurch, but . . . This should prove to your listeners that you're a man of reason and you're not going to get emotional about the issue.'"

"As a hawk, what should you do next?"

"Mention Munich, the domino theory and our commitment to the free world, not necessarily in that order."

"And if you're a dove?"

"Talk about the stupidity of the French, the naïveté of John Foster Dulles and the right for people to have their own revolutions without outside interference from the United States."

"How do you follow it up?"

"You have to quote sources. If you're a hawk, you quote Joe Alsop, Bob Hope, Cardinal Spellman, Barry Goldwater and Time magazine. If you're a dove, you refer to Walter Lippmann's last column, speeches by Sen. Fulbright and Robert F. Kennedy and testimony by Gen. Gavin, Robert Lowell and Joan Baez. Even if they didn't say something, you can always claim they did. No one in the living room is going to be able to check up on you."

"Don't you quote President Johnson, Secretary Dean Rusk or Robert McNamara?"

"It's hardly worth it. Neither the hawks nor the doves believe anything the people in our government tell them."

"Outsiders always know more," I agreed.

"Now if you see the argument is running down, you can always refer to a book you read on Vietnam. People are very impressed with anyone in the crowd who has read a book and it shows you've gone deeper into the subject than anyone else in the room."

"Any special book?"

"The best one is a title that no one has ever heard of, particularly if it's been written by someone with a foreign name. It will make the other side very mad and he'll have to come up with a book of his own."

"It gets harder as you go along," I said.

"The important thing is to speak with authority and pretend to know what you're talking about."

"But suppose you lose the argument?"

"You can always punch the guy in the nose."

Over-Extermination

WASHINGTON — When the O'Flahertys discovered they had rats in their cellar, they immediately telephoned the United States Exterminating Company, which sent out Hogan and Wertham to clean up the situation.

Hogan and Wertham set out poison in small paper trays which the rats, being nobody's tools, declined to eat. After a few weeks Mr. O'Flaherty complained, and Hogan and Wertham returned. "If there's one thing I hate," said Wertham, examining the untouched trays of poison, "it's a smart rat."

"They are probably part of international ratism's scheme for world domination," said Hogan. "We're going to have to take severe measures."

That night Hogan and Wertham sat in O'Flaherty's cellar with shotguns. There were half a dozen loud reports during the night. At dawn Wertham woke Mr. O'Flaherty with bad news. "Afraid we shot the side out of your hot-water heater," he said.

"Did you get any rats?"

"Can't say yet. You know that dog you got down there?"

"Old Rover? Of course, he's been in the family for years."

"Well, Hogan accidentally winged him in the hindquarter with a load of shot and he's running around so mad down there, we don't dare try to get a body count."

Mrs. O'Flaherty said that Hogan and Wertham would have to go, but Wertham was adamant. "If these rats are permitted to get away with taking over your cellar," he explained, "next they'll take over the cellar next door, and then the cellar next door to that, and before you know it they'll be all the way across town where we live. We've got to stop them right here."

Later that day Hogan and Wertham returned with reinforcements — a squad of 24 strapping young men apprenticed in the exterminating trade—to man an around-the-clock vigil. Under Wertham's leadership that night they conducted Operation Pied Piper.

Operation Pied Piper was based on the theory that since the rats would not come out and fight in the open, they had to be concealing themselves some place, possibly in the pipes. Wertham's strategy called for a direct frontal attack on the cellar pipes with sledge hammers. This was done.

In the wreckage next morning they found one dead rat and three mice. "We've got 'em on the run," said Wertham. That night he conducted Operation Pied Furnace, which resulted in the demolition of O'Flaherty's heating plant.

"How much longer is this going on?" demanded Mrs. O'Flaherty, whose kitchen was constantly overrun with off-duty exterminators given to pinching her daughter, flirting with her son's fiancée and complaining that her house was "the kind of dump rats deserve."

"To tell you the truth, Ma'am," said Hogan, "it could take three years, five years, maybe seven or eight years, but we're not going to falter. We're going to prove right here that rats can't get away with moving in on defenseless people like you. When we finally get the rats out of here we're going to build you the fanciest cellar in town."

That night while patrolling the crawl space under the sun porch, Wertham was bitten by a rat, or perhaps a spider. In the dark he could not be sure—and in an emotional retaliatory outburst he set fire to some old newspapers and burned down the entire north end of the house before the Fire Department arrived.

"At last," he told Mr. O'Flaherty, "we've severely limited their possible area of operations."

Two days later Hogan saw three rats dashing from the house next door, which belonged to the Smeeds, into the charred open end of the O'Flahertys' house. "That does it," Hogan told the Smeeds. "We're going to have to hit their infiltration routes, which lead right through your house."

Mr. Smeed went to Mr. O'Flaherty. "I don't know about you," he said, "but if those bunglers come looking for rats in my house, I'm going to court."

Hogan and Wertham quickly gathered their forces and thrust a massive assault into the attic. The carnage was considerable but at the peak of the battle the attic flooring, which had never been strong, buckled. Hogan, Wertham, sixteen of their apprentices and sundry trunks crashed through to the second floor.

There the stunned forces of extermination, fearing an ambush, began smashing doors and windows in their search for escape routes. City inspectors arrived just at dinner time to notify the O'Flahertys that the house was in hazardous condition and would have to be abandoned.

"Don't take it so hard," said Wertham to the sobbing Mrs. O'Flaherty. "At least you won't be leaving much to make life worthwhile for those rats."

Combat Badge Awarded to Kane Soldier

VIETNAM—The combat infantryman's badge, mark of distinction for the fighting soldier, has been awarded to Private First Class Danny R. Thomas in Vietnam.

Pvt. Thomas, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie M. Thomas, 310 Bayard st., Kane, is assigned to Company B, 3rd Battalion of the 9th Infantry Division's 39th Infantry as a radio operator and driver.

CIBs have been awarded since late in World War II for sustained contact against an enemy in ground action. The badge is a blue rectangle with a silver rifle mounted on it and a curved wreath at the top. Subsequent awards are represented by stars in the center of the wreath.

At least 30 days of contact with hostile forces in Vietnam are required to be eligible for the award.

His wife, Ruth, lives on Route 3, Union City, Pa.
